Work Begun on $500,000 Expansion at Loranger Plastics

PLANT BEING EXPANDED—This architect's drawing shows how the Loranger Plastics Corp. plant will look from the Allegheny River side when a $500,000 addition, now under construction, is finished around Jan. 1. The expansion will more than double the plant's present size and capacity. Richard McCarthy of John Grove Jr., Associates, is the architect.

Steel began going up this week on a $500,000 project which will more than double the size of Loranger Plastics Corp. on Clark St. and create some 90 additional jobs. Target date for completion is Jan. 1.

According to J. Albert Loranger, president and sole owner of the firm, the project will cover some 47,000 square feet west of the plant's present location on Clark St.

Cost of the building alone is some $250,000. The balance of the cost, Loranger said, will go into equipment which will enable the corporation to double its present manufacturing capacity.

The expansion is under Loranger's direction, with Richard McCarthy of John Grove Jr., Associates as architect.

The building will be steel frame with brick walls to match the present plant and will, Loranger said, incorporate the most modern electrical and heating equipment for the comfort and convenience of employees.

Loranger said that in addition, the entrances of the plant will be landscaped "to enhance the complete structure as well as the surroundings and the river frontage."

The project was begun some three months ago and on June 19, after six weeks of preliminary work—which included demolition of an apartment building at 10 Clark St., and a warehouse—the first concrete was poured.

This expansion, it was pointed out, marks another milestone in the career of Al Loranger, who began his firm in the basement of his home on West Wayne St. 14 years ago. In July of 1950, Loranger acquired the first building on Clark St. which is still part of the plant and houses molding facilities. With five employees, the firm grew to become two companies in November of 1952—Loranger Manufacturing Corp., the sales organization, and Loranger Plastics Corp., created for design, tooling, molding and fabrication operations. The firm now employs 110 people. The addition will jump the force to 200.

The last-named corporation maintains a design and engineering department as well as a complete tool and die shop for designing and building all the tools used by the firm for items manufactured by the compression, transfer and injection molding methods. Loranger also points out that the firm has a well-established line of custom and proprietary items manufactured for use in the automotive, electronic, cutlery, oil, musical instrument and educational games industries, as well as items for the Evenflo line of baby feeding equipment and DeVilbiss Vaporizers for home use.

Comedienne Gracie Allen Dies in Hollywood at 58

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gracie Allen, whose scatterbrained comedy helped make Burns and Allen a top act in show business for 34 years, died Thursday night after a heart attack. She was 58.

Spokesmen for the family said Miss Allen died at 11:15 p.m. and that her husband, comedy actor George Burns, was at her side at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Contacted at the Burns home in Beverly Hills, William Burns, George's brother, said the popular comedienne had been in seemingly good health before being stricken.

He said she had experienced mild heart attacks in the past. They didn't, however, seem to slow her down much. Ten days ago she and her husband were among the guests at the gala wedding reception for Edie Adams and her new husband, Marty Mills.

She appeared effervescent and cheerful, as she has been since her retirement in 1958.

Until then, the strain of sustaining her nitwit role sometimes made her tense and withdrawn.

At the time of her retirement, Burns explained why she quit: "She's never missed acting for a minute. She never was a ham, anyway. Most actors are aware of playing to an audience. Not Gracie. The side of the stage toward the audience was a wall to her. She concentrated only on what she had to say and never gave a thought to cameras or lights or makeup or anything."

"She deserved a rest. She had been working all her life, and her lines were the toughest in the world to do. They didn't make sense, so she had to memorize every word. It took a real actress."

"Every spare moment—in bed, under the hair dryer—had to be spent in learning lines. Do you wonder that she's happy to be rid of it?"

Miss Allen was born in San Francisco in the year of the great earthquake. Named Grace Ethel Cecile Rosalie Allen, she was one of four daughters of Edward Allen, a song and dance man then booked in San Francisco.

At 3½ she had made her stage debut. But she continued in Catholic schools until she was 14, when she began a dancing act with her three older sisters. Later, she joined an Irish song and dance act and at one time went to secretarial school in Hoboken, N.J. It was in New Jersey that she met George.

She saw him on a bill at Union Hill, N.J., where he was booked as Burns and Lorraine. They met after the show and George revealed he was seeking a new partner. He suggested that Gracie join him.

Gracie recalled later: "Of course George had written this

The Cornplanter Drum and Bugle Corps took second place honors in a parade Sunday in Hamburg, N. Y.

It was the annual Veterans' Day Parade held in conjunction with the Erie County Fair.

A spokesman for the Corps said that it has been reported in Jamestown and some other areas that the Cornplanters came in last. The judges' tally, however, shows that they were second.

First place went to the Kingsmen of Hamburg, with a score of 94.30. The Cornplanters received a score of 79.37 for second place.

A special meeting of the Chancellors Valley Cemetery Association is scheduled at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Valley Grange Hall in that community.

Warren Rotarians, in their Monday luncheon and meeting, will have as special guest the Rev. Dr. Albert Marriott of Meadville, who is a widely-known Methodist minister and serves as district governor of the service group.

Donald Sumner, district forester, today reminded all forest fire wardens, crew members and their families that the Cornplanter Fire Warden picnic is scheduled for 1 p.m. Sunday at Chapman State Park. In addition to the picnic, prizes and games for young and old will be on tap.

Donald M. Davies has been named Ranger for Camp Olmsted, it has been announced by Alex F. Fino, president, Chief Cornplanter Council.

Davies, who served as assistant camp ranger at Elk Lick Council, Bradford, and attended the 9th national ranger's school at Schiff Scout Reservation, Mendham, N. J., is now on the job and living at the camp.

His wife Paula and their daughter will soon be living in the Warren area.

LBJ, Humphrey Turn To Campaign Plans

By JACK BELL

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Accepting their nominations with the roaring tributes of the Democratic National Convention, President Johnson and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey quickly turned today to the practical business of shaping a campaign aimed at defeating their Republican opponents.

Before they were to leave for a weekend at the LBJ ranch near Johnson City, Tex., the President and Humphrey, his vice presidential running mate, arranged to brief the party's national committee on their fast-forming political plans.

First Humphrey and then Johnson stood Thursday night in the blazing lights on the podium to tell thousands of Democrats at the closing session of their convention that they had enlisted their energies in a crusade to build "the great society" in a tumultuous world.

The President, interrupted time and again by applause, said, in accepting nomination for a first four-year elective term, that the election is "not between liberals and conservatives, party and party, platform and platform."

"It is between courage and timidity," he shouted. "It is between those who see what can be, and those who want only to maintain the status quo. It is between those who welcome the future and those who turn away from its promise."

He pledged "a constant, patient effort to move the world toward peace."

"I will use the full resources of the federal government," to assure fair play to all Americans, he continued, and said that his talents would be directed toward "bringing our nation together in unity."

"In pursuit of this common purpose," he said, "I believe we shall someday see an America that knows no North, or South, no East, or West—an America undivided by creed or color, untorn by suspicion or strife."

To accomplish this, he said that "those who break the law—those who create disorder—whether in the North or in the South—must be caught and brought to justice."

"In every part of this country the law must be respected and

But Experts Fearful Of Renewed Activity

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Cleo, no longer the blustering monster that roared through Miami, slapped weakly today at the rockets of Cape Kennedy and the city of Daytona Beach.

But the Miami Weather Bureau reported a tendency to redevelop in the offshore portion of the eye, and warned that the present northward track will carry the storm again over the Atlantic where Cleo could draw new energy from the warm Gulf Stream.

Only a 43-mile breeze, punctuated by an occasional gust up to 60, marked the passage of the once vicious storm to the west of Daytona Beach. Damage was superficial.

Hurricane warnings remained up north to Brunswick, Ga., and a hurricane watch was in effect to Charleston, S.C.

A curving, 2,500-mile path of death and destruction was behind the hurricane. Her known death toll stood at 138.

At 8 a.m. (EST), the center of the wind circulation was estimated by the Weather Bureau to be near Flagler Beach, 13 miles north of Daytona Beach.

The only hurricane winds occurring at the time were in gusts, but warnings were left unchanged, pending a penetration of the hurricane by aircraft.

Winds were gusting at 45 miles an hour at Jacksonville Beach and six foot swells pounded the coast. Moderate to heavy rains spread northward into Georgia.

Cleo, which left Miami and 200 miles of Florida's "Gold Coast" looking like a battle zone after striking with winds up to 115 miles an hour, hit Cape Kennedy.

Glass-Tite Is Tripling Local Plant

Formation of a Crystal Components Division has been announced by Richard H. Rudolph, president of Glass-Tite Industries Inc.

THE DIVISION will be headquartered in GTI's Warren plant, which is being tripled in size to accommodate the new facility.

Eric A. Wilkinson, a pioneer in the quartz crystal industry, and most recently vice president of Houston Electronics, Kane, has been named general manager.

THE PLANT, expected to be completed by Oct. 1, will manufacture a complete line of crystal bases and components as a supplier to the quartz crystal industry.

The new line will include many new types designed for specialized applications in both military and commercial fields, including all glass types. A special department will be maintained for quick delivery of special bases and samples. A complete stock of cans will be maintained for immediate shipment and facilities will be provided for supply.

69,000 Students Return To Erie Schools Tuesday

ERIE — School bells Tuesday will ring forth their opening day call to more than half of the 69,000 students slated to return to Erie city and county schools in the 1964-65 term.

And by the time Sept. 9 rolls around the rest of the children will have forsaken the old swimming hole and the baseball field for the classroom.

The wide gap in starting times for the various schools results from the late Labor Day this year.

lision with a government postal truck.

The driver of the mail truck, Raymond Walters, 42, was treated and released. Carlson suffered hip and internal injuries.

School Pushed

MILLCREEK — The new elementary school will be "under the roof" within two months and should be completed by September, 1965, it is reported.

Construction plans are also nearing completion for a nine-room addition to the high school and a new junior high school.

Course To Open

ERIE — Another municipal golf course will soon be a necessity, Parks Director Robert J. Orlando said yesterday.

"On a population basis, we're already nine holes short," he said, pointing out that the two 18-hole courses—Erie and Downing—and the nine-hole Glenwood course are overcrowded on peak days.

Exhibit Slated

NORTH EAST — The North East Art Club will hold its first exhibit featuring more than 100 paintings and various types of handwork Sept. 3-5.

If the first exhibit is successful, Alexandrite, a semiprecious stone, was named after Czar Alexander II of Russia, on whose birthday it was first found in the Ural Mountains.

TIDIOUTE — Mrs. Harriet King Varner, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. King, Jefferson St., Tidioute, who for a number of years has been speech correctionist of Clarion County schools, has accepted a similar position in Cumberland County and will reside in Mechanicsburg, Pa.

MRS. VARNER, a graduate of Tidioute High School, holds B. A. and M. A. degrees from The Pennsylvania State University as well as advanced courses and teaching experience in the University's summer speech correction clinic, advanced summer courses at Northwestern University and Indiana State College. She has now qualified for and has received a National certificate in speech correction.

Autos Collide On Rural Road

Two cars were involved in a traffic accident which occurred at 8 p. m. yesterday at the intersection of Mary Hill and Stillson Hill Roads in Sugar Grove Twp.

State Police of the Warren substation stated that a car operated by Ellis Billsborough, 17 Eighth St., Youngville, traveling north on Mary Hill Road, stopped at the intersection then proceeded to turn east on Stillson Hill Road. The Billsborough car, police said, was struck head-on by a vehicle traveling west on Stillson Hill and operated by Shirley B. Pilling, RD 1, Ashville, N. Y. According to police, heavy weeds obstructed the view.

Damage was estimated to total $140.

A mobile home being pulled by a car was damaged to the estimated extent of $400 at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday and $12 damage inflicted to a borough speed limit sign and post.

Police states that a car operated by Hugh Leonidas of Palm Beach, Fla., pulling a mobile home and traveling west on Pennsylvania Ave., pulled to the curb just west of Marion St. where the trailer hit a sign and post on the north curb.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Amid all the sound and fury, the cameras lingered on the sad face of its object, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. He stood, as if alone, looking as one viewer said "like a young boy close to tears."

As if reading minds, NBC's Chet Huntley observed at the end of the demonstration that "each individual must deduce on his own what this means—whether it is his (Kennedy's) own or because he's the symbol of his brother."

Two films occupied considerable time at the convention and on the three networks Thursday night. The first CBS' Eric Sevareid dismissed as "a typical campaign biography" of the presidential candidate, consisting of a batch of film clips narrated in early "March of Time" style. It contrasted sharply with an imaginative well-edited film memoir, "A Thousand Days," of the late President John F. Kennedy, which produced an emotional reaction in the hall—and in millions of homes.

After watching the goings-on, first in San Francisco and then in Atlantic City, one can then conclude that television networks are physically, electronically and intellectually capable of the remarkable job of bringing a political convention into the living rooms of the nation.

Hollywood Reporting

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Many men mark their 65th birthday by retiring from their life's work. Charles Boyer is celebrating his 65th by costarring in a movie and a television series simultaneously.

It seems incredible that Hollywood's version of Le Grand Charles could be 65, but he is the first to admit it. Today is his birthday.

"I have never tried to hide my age," said the ever-charming Boyer. "Oh, I know that actresses do it, and some actors, too. But it is silly. There are so many ways of finding out an actor's age."

"Besides, if you don't tell your age, people are apt to think you are older than you really are."

Boyer is one of the few actors whose birthdate is plainly printed in his official biography. He has never made any fuss about his baldness; he plays roles with or without toupees, his hair having thinned at age 27.

Smooth-topped or wigged, he remains a handsome figure of a man. The romantic quality is still present, and that is a factor he has had to live with all these years.

"It's really a misconception," he argued. "I actually did very few romantic roles; 'Love Affair' was one, and it remains one of my favorites."

Admittedly he made movie love to many of the great female stars — Garbo ("Conquest"), Dietrich ("Garden of Allah"), Davis ("All This Heaven, too"), Bergman ("Gaslight"), De Havilland ("Hold Back the Dawn"). But always he was a man of action, as with his Napoleon in "Conquest."

Boyer has worked all his adult life. Right now he is appearing with Rock Hudson and Leslie Caron in "The Favor." On his days off from the movie he works in "The Rogues," the new television series which he and partner David Niven (and Gig Young) are making for their Four Star Productions. "I will always go on working," Boyer said, "although a few years ago I decided to, do only the things I enjoy."

Dear Abby . . .

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About a year ago I hired a nice-looking, middle-aged woman to live in and be my housekeeper. She is immaculate, refined, efficient and pleasant. I pay her $40 a month and she takes only Sundays off for church and visiting friends. When she refused to use my electric dishwasher because she "enjoyed" washing dishes in a dishpan, I let it go. But she doesn't use my vacuum cleaner, either. She says she doesn't mind sweeping. She doesn't use any of my appliances. Not even the electric juicer, coffee-maker or can opener. My husband says either she is "cracked" or she doesn't know how to operate these things, and is too ashamed to ask. She gets everything done to my satisfaction, but it hurts me to see her do things the hard way. Should I say something to her about it, and insist she use these appliances, or should I keep quiet?

MRS. S.
DEAR MRS. S.: Keep quiet! And if your husband says anything to her, HE'S "cracked."

DEAR ABBY: One of my neighbors is young and good-looking. She wears very tight pants and always comes over to my house when my husband is home for lunch. He is on a special diet so I can't pack him a lunch. Lately I have noticed that he pays more attention to her than he does to his lunch. Do I have a problem?

JUST MARRIED
DEAR JUST: Yes, but not because you can't pack your husband a lunch. It's the way your neighbor packs her slacks! Tell your neighbor that you would enjoy her visits either before lunch or after, but not during, because you want to lunch alone with your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Every now and then I see letters in your column from brides desiring to avoid the presence of relatives' brats at their weddings. They inquire if it is proper to add "No children, please," or words to that effect, on their wedding invitations. Invariably you say it is not proper to add such a message, which, of course, is good advice. I am reminded of a cousin of mine who could have used your advice 35 years ago. At the bottom of her wedding invitations was a postscript in her own hand, "No children expected."

STILL LAUGHING

DEAR ABBY: The widow who signed herself, "DISAPPOINTED IN MY CHILDREN" should have signed herself, "DISAPPOINTED IN MY HUSBAND." If he had had an adequate life insurance program during his life, his widow would have been independent. Then she would have been a welcome visitor in her children's homes, instead of an unwanted burden.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

YOU'RE UNDER ARREST, DEAR—Tulsa County Prosecutor S. M. Fallis tells his wife, Diane, that the fashionable hat and mask she's wearing is against the law in Oklahoma. The law makes it illegal for anyone to wear a mask that "conceals the identity of the wearer." A hangover from outlaw days, it carries a $500 fine. Fallis didn't say if he'd clamp down on the new, fashion, but added "That's a bridge we'll cross when the women lead us to it." —AP Wirephoto

Tearful Bobby Kennedy Sees Convention Honor Late JFK

By JOHN BECKLER

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Tears glistened in the eyes of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy as he faced the cheering thousands.

He stood solemn and silent during the 13-minute emotional outburst touched off when he went before the Democratic National Convention Thursday night to honor the memory of his brother, the assassinated President John F. Kennedy.

There were no balloons, no gimmicks, no rousing band music to spur the delegates to action. There was only an outpouring of emotion.

QUICKIES By Ken Reynolds

"Alvin stays home every night — since I got a safety belt in the Times-Mirror Want Ads!"

Robert Kennedy, who is now a candidate for the U.S. Senate from New York, stood with head bowed while the wave of noise swept over him while he waited to introduce a film portraying highlights of his brother's brief years as President.

Seven times Kennedy sought to begin his speech, but could get no farther than, "Mr. Chairman." Each attempt touched off a swelling roar from the throats of the thousands of delegates and spectators that carried the tumult ever higher.

Twice he stepped back and convention officials tried to still the noise, but without effect. Finally, as Kennedy once again began to speak over the shouting, it subsided, and a twinkling rap silence replaced the noise. It was, at once, the quietest, and most poignant moment of the four-day convention.

As Kennedy spoke of the hopes and ideals that sustained his brother during his three years as President, and of his pride in the Democratic party, many delegates wept.

Even more handkerchiefs appeared during the film that followed, especially at the end when President Kennedy was shown playing with his children and taking part in happy family activities.

The attorney general took a seat at the back of the platform while the film ran. He watched part of it on a television set in front of him, then turned to watch it on the huge screen mounted at the end of convention hall for the delegates to see.

But as the final, family scenes unrolled he turned away from both and sat looking into space. And when the lights came back on, he ducked his head below the platform wall and dabbed at his eyes with a handkerchief before walking quickly out the back.

Pennsylvania Democrats Return Home Harboring Mixed Reactions

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Pennsylvania delegates went home today with mixed reactions about the 1964 Democratic convention but highly optimistic they will win the November election for the national and state-wide tickets.

Some of the 285 delegates felt that Pennsylvania shared as many honors as any state in a convention which was pretty much cut and dried before it opened last Monday.

Others expressed disappointment that they had little to do with shaping the convention, that there was none of the high drama of the 1956 and 1960 gatherings in which Pennsylvanians played leading roles.

But all of them believed that the ticket of President Johnson and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey would run strong in Pennsylvania.

Former Gov. David L. Lawrence and state chairman Otis B. Morse predicted President Johnson would carry Pennsylvania by a much higher margin than did the late President Kennedy, who won by slightly less than 100,000 votes in 1960.

Francis R. Smith, Philadelphia Democratic chairman, and Pittsburgh Mayor Joseph Barr both said the state's two largest cities would improve on big margins given to Kennedy.

However, leaders of the state's third largest area, around Scranton and Wilkes-Barre — where Kennedy was exceedingly popular—doubted they could do as well.

Patrick Melody, Lackawanna County chairman, and Dr. John L. Dorris, Luzerne County Democratic leader, said they hoped to provide margins of about 25,000. In 1960, Luzerne County gave Kennedy 33,000 and Lackawanna County gave him a 32,000 lead.

Barr and Morse said some of the state's business leaders are switching their support to President Johnson.

Harry Boyer, president of the state AFL-CIO and a delegate, said that labor could not have picked a better vice presidential candidate than Sen. Humphrey.

Because Johnson and Humphrey were nominated by acclamation no state gained precedence on the floor.

But many delegates pointed out that Lawrence, as chairman of the convention's credentials committee, helped work out a compromise to prevent a floor fight over the seating of the Alabama and Mississippi delegations.

Other Pennsylvanians on the important credentials committee were Mrs. Louise M. Johns of West Chester, vice chairman of the Democratic state committee and Edward Lynett, Scranton publisher.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark was a member of the platform committee.

Miss Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs and the apparent candidate for U.S. Senator, introduced U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956.

There were a few sore spots in the view of most Keystone State delegates.

They didn't get nearly as many of the 7,000 convention hall guests tickets as they wanted—causing a daily scramble to satisfy some of the many requests from visiting Pennsylvanians.

And they griped about the location of the delegation on the convention floor and what they considered poor policing of the crowds in the aisles.

The delegation was smack against the convention rostrum and Pennsylvanians were in the position of a man at the base of a building viewing a show on the roof.

Morse agreed that the convention "housekeeping and physical arrangements were frustrating."

"But," he added, "I think the total end product has been almost historic."

"In addition, this has been the most practical convention, from an administrative point of view, that I've known."

"In daily meetings with national committee people we learned exactly what they were going to do and what was expected of us . . . we outlined our plans and found the national committee thinking the same way."

More on Rail Travel

EARLIER THIS WEEK we carried some information of passenger rail travel which we found interesting. Another view of the same situation is taken by Don E. Weaver, who's "Fellow Citizen" column appears in the Columbus (Ohio) Citizen-Journal.

Writing under the headline "Who Shot the Passenger Train?", Mr. Weaver says as follows:

If city buses are having difficulties, as we mentioned here recently, the passenger trains are really in trouble.

Fifty years ago the friendly accommodation train picked us up at the country station, took us to the county seat, or to the State Fair, and brought us home again.

But today we drive our cars over wonderful highways, or ride big inter-city passenger buses, or fly coast to coast by jet in a few hours.

Can the railroad passenger train survive? Yes, if it gets a chance, says James N. Sites, an official of the Association of American Railroads. He spoke this week to the Society of American Travel Writers in Washington.

It was Uncle Sam who shot the passenger train. Railroads own and maintain their own right-of-way. They pay heavy taxes in every hamlet, county, city and state through which they operate. But government builds airports and the roads for cars and buses.

"Competing carriers may have pulled the trigger, but it was expanding government programs in their behalf which furnished and loaded the gun," Mr. Sites declared. "It wasn't the railroads that abandoned passenger service. It was the public."

A Public Utilities Commission hearing here in Columbus a few years ago was attended by many people from along a branch line of a railroad wanting to take off a passenger train that was running empty day after day. They were bitterly protesting the removal of the train.

A railroad lawyer asked for a show of hands of those who had come to Columbus on the train. None had. They all drove their cars.

Mr. Sites pointed to a bit of irony in Washington. Railroads built Union Station with $32 million of their own money. About the same amount was spent—of government tax money—to build National Airport across the Potomac. Union station paid $378,000 in District of Columbia property taxes in 1962. The government-owned airport of course paid no property taxes. Abandoned by the public and heavily taxed by governments which subsidize other means of travel, how can there be any trains?

Mr. Sites sees a new era of travel by super-trains—if our government would help our own railroads as much as it does those in other countries.

U. S. agencies, the World Bank and the Export-Import Bank have extended $2.8 billion in loans and grants to build up railroads abroad.

"Wouldn't it be a wonderful switch," Mr. Sites said, "if, instead of rushing to the aid of railroads abroad, our government did a little more to help them here at home."

In Japan, 125-mph trains will fly along a new 320-mile line between Tokyo and Osaka.

A Trans-Europe Express (TEE) with modern streamliners connects 70 cities in western Europe.

The U. S. has some crack trains too, mostly in the West. The 31-hour vistadome ride from Denver—through Moffat Tunnel, the gorge of the Colorado River, the sand hills of Utah and Nevada and the Feather River Canyon to San Francisco—is a delightful experience.

There are many commuter trains in our bigger cities, and Columbus may use the network of railroad tracks for local mass transportation some day.

The European rather than the Japanese pattern is more practical for a U. S. train revival.

Trans-Europe Express uses existing lines and equipment of seven co-operating railroads. TEE is giving the planes a run for the money. The secret is low cost. European trains aren't any better or faster than American trains.

"But in Europe government-owned railroads are operated at an average overall deficit of 20 per cent," Mr. Sites said. They pay no taxes. U. S. railroads not only must pay all their own expenses but also as much as 10 per cent of their take in taxes.

What do American railroads need to keep the trains running?

Put all carriers on an equal cost and tax basis, says Mr. Sites. Eliminate property taxes on railroads. If airports, highways and waterways aren't taxed, why should railroads be?

Free the railroads from costly outdated rules and labor conditions. Let them rid themselves of unused services so they can give good passenger service where it will be used, at prices that will attract customers.

The railroads want to give service that can compete in the jet age. But they must be given the chance.

Editorial Viewpoints Of Other Leading Area Newspapers of this or any other century. Millions of dollars have gone overseas, ostensibly to help the poor and downtrodden and most anyone would like to believe that for this kind of cash Uncle Sam shouldn't be treated like an unwanted relative in a showdown.

Showdowns there have been in the past and will be in the future. If we haven't been able to count on nations who've shared our larder and largess, then what does the future hold for the foreign aid program which finds little popularity among the home folks in any congressman's constituency?

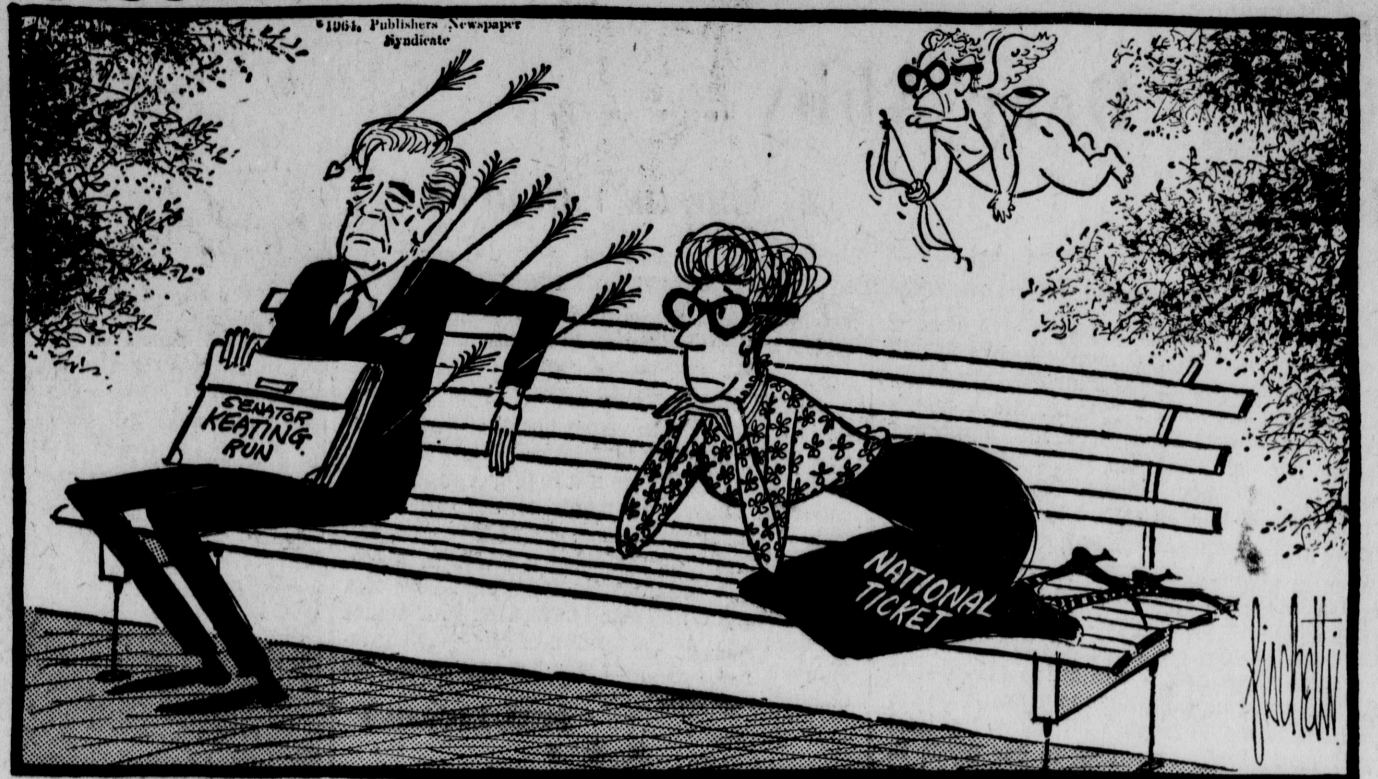

For a starter here's a list of 21 nations, what they've gotten from the U.S. and how they repaid us when the chips were down:

Country	U.S. Aid Through 1963 (millions)	Votes With U.S.	Votes With Russia
Algeria	94.6	3	9
Burma	117.1	4	8
Cambodia	366.4	4	8
Ceylon	84.3	6	8
Ethiopia	201.6	5	8
Ghana	159.2	6	8

Tunisia	355.2	7	8
Uganda	12.1	3	7
United Arab Republic	802.4	3	8

Congressmen should have no trouble putting the padlock on the U.S. community purse when one of these nations comes with its hand out.

Drew Pearson: Washington Merry-Go-Round

Polls Show LBJ Well Ahead

ATLANTIC CITY—Best present handed Lyndon Johnson on his 56th birthday was not the Presidential nomination which was a foregone conclusion, but a series of confidential polls showing that it will be extremely difficult for Barry Goldwater to defeat him.

The equivalent of these polls are also in Goldwater's hands and are the chief reason the Republican candidate has been making so many moves to appease the moderate wing of the Republican party and to get the nation to forget his views on extremism.

The polls taken by the White House have been conducted privately, in conjunction with certain states, with both the national and state Democratic organizations splitting the cost. In general the results coincide with the results of nationally published polls.

Even if the polls are five per cent off, the maximum that the experts believe possible, Johnson is still safely out in front.

In Republican Maine, for example, poll-taker Oliver Quayle found the sentiment running almost 7 to 1 for Johnson. Unbelieving, he sent his pollsters back to check again. They came up with these confidential results: Johnson, 70 per cent, Goldwater 12 per cent, with 18 per cent undecided.

Quayle submitted the results to the White House with this firm comment: "We have checked and double-checked for some error in our work in this set of figures. There is no error."

The worst showing Johnson made in Quayle's quiz was in Indiana. Here, the careful poll-taker found Johnson leading Goldwater by only 51 to 35 per cent with 14 per cent undecided. Leaving out the undecided vote, this gave the President a 56-to-44 lead.

In his confidential report to the White House, Quayle commented: "The story in Indiana is that, at 56 per cent, the President is still well ahead and full 11 points ahead of the 45 per cent scored here by the late President Kennedy. Again, this was before the showdown in the Gulf of Tonkin. There is every likelihood that the President can pick up 13 electoral votes in Indiana that Mr. Kennedy did not.

"If he can hold his present lead here, he will probably also get 26 more denied Kennedy in Ohio, 10 in Wisconsin, and 26 that Mr. Kennedy very nearly lost in Illinois."

Quayle made careful surveys in two other states where Alabama Governor George Wallace made a strong showing in the Democratic primaries.

In Maryland, Quayle found the President running 60 to 24 per cent ahead of Goldwater with 16 per cent undecided. Counting the "undecided" as they voted in 1960, Johnson held a 69-to-31 lead.

In Wisconsin, the President led Goldwater 53 to 35 per cent with 12 per cent "not sure." With the undecided distributed as they voted in 1960, Johnson's margin was 59 to 41.

Observed Quayle: "It should be remembered that Mr. Kennedy's run in Wisconsin was six points off his Maryland run. Wisconsin is not as congenial territory, and a Democratic candidate for President should not be expected to do as well as in Maryland."

"In this context, we would call the President's 59 per cent a very solid lead.

"The undecided vote is smaller than in Maryland, and he should be able to make this lead stand up between now and Nov. 3. That there has been a slight Johnson slip since the Republican convention has been reported in national polls and is confirmed here. But the position is still very good . . .

"In Maryland last September, Kennedy led Goldwater with 62 per cent of the vote, and Johnson is seven points stronger today. If the Republicans can close ranks, and it must be assumed this has already happened to some degree, then Goldwater will acquire greater strength. But the President now has 60 per cent of the vote in hand against Senator Goldwater, and should be able to make this stand up."

From New York to Hawaii, the results are even more encouraging for Johnson and discouraging for Goldwater. Quayle found New York voters, for example, lined up 60 per cent for Johnson to only 22 per cent for Goldwater with 18 per cent undecided. The results in Hawaii were almost exactly the same: 60 per cent for Johnson, 23 per cent for Goldwater, 17 per cent undecided.

A poll conducted in Otsego County in upstate New York by Prof. Bernard Johnson of Hartwick College, chairman of Republicans for Johnson, shows that the voters are two to one for Johnson.

It was these lopsided polls that finally alarmed Goldwater into coming to terms with the Republican liberals whom he spurned in San Francisco.

Nevertheless Democrats at Atlantic City remember the days of Dewey complacency. They are running scared.

Texas Governor John Connally has told the President flatly that he is in danger of losing his home state to Sen. Barry Goldwater . . . New Jersey Democrats are disgruntled over the poor showing of Sen. Harrison Williams in the political polls. "How can a man be Senator for six years," grumbled one delegate privately, "and have fifty per cent of the people in the state unaware of who he is?" . . . Sen. John Pastore wrote his fiery key-note speech himself. This was one he didn't turn over to his speech writer, Tom Meehan . . . Party giver Perle Mesta's handyman dropped in the Food Fair supermarket in Margate, south of Atlantic City during convention week to pick up a few extra groceries. He walked out with over a dozen sacks full. The bill: $200 . . . Singer Eddie Fisher's mother came to Atlantic City not to attend the convention but to be at the opening of her son's show at the 500 Club. On opening night, Perle Mesta sat at the table next to the singer's mother. During the applause she leaned over and whispered to his mother: "I love him."

John Chamberlain: These Days

Reality Arrives at Last

ATLANTIC CITY—If there is any common denominator of apprehension at this generally smug convention, it is that Lyndon Johnson may have formed the habit of trying to slide over things too long.

Nobody, when the proceedings started, considered there were any real storm clouds on the horizon. The arguments over seating the legally elected Mississippi delegation or "disloyal" members of the Alabama delegation would be settled in due course by Hubert Humphrey in his new role of pacifier. The image of Lyndon Johnson, as the man who "met force with force" in the Gulf of Tonkin, would stand up through Senator Pastore's keynote speech and beyond. Then, following the choice of Vice President, the showing of the John F. Kennedy film, and the coronation of LBJ in his own right, the happy delegates could stage a Boardwalk bash (the fashionable word for wild celebration) in honor of the President's Aug. 27 birthday and go home. It would be all the way with LBJ for the U.S.A. (Hey, hey).

Unhappily, the real world at this convention has intruded. It intruded—just a bit—in the embattled shapes of Birmingham's Bull Connor and the ADA's Joseph Rauh Jr., who, recalling the antagonistic co-operation between the rhinoceros and the tick bird, brought the reality of the South into the convention hall ante-rooms. The LBJ theory was that an all-white Mississippi delegation could be seated this time, with a promise that in 1968 things would be different. The South, according to the LBJ thesis, is evolving; the Bull Connor type has all but disappeared from every Southern state except Mississippi and Alabama, and in four more years it will not be coming to national conventions from anywhere. So why have a fuss now just to satisfy Joseph Rauh Jr. and his little band of wilful men?

Well, the reality of colliding forces in Mississippi forced a compromise. It was a teeny-weensy one, to be sure, but it was just enough to remind voters that Democrats do have problems in the South that may spill over from Alabama and Mississippi to take votes away from LBJ.

The picture of the President who had the commies fighting a losing battle all over the world after four Kennedy-Johnson years was suavely presented on the opening night of the convention by Keynote Pastore and by a judiciously edited film that distributed praise just about equally between JFK and LBJ.

But came the dawn and the delegates woke up to learn that the regime of General Khanh in South Vietnam was tottering. Buddhists and students had forced the strong man to rip up a new constitutional provision that had given him dictatorial power to cope with national emergencies. And in the Congo, Tshombe had been compelled to hire mercenaries—some of them from apartheid South Africa, no less—to keep Communist-backed tribesmen from overrunning the eastern provinces of a country that has always been held together by baling wire.

The labor bosses at their headquarters in the Hotel Traymore have been working quietly to help build up the LBJ image for the battle against Barry Goldwater. But reality intruded in the shape of news from Detroit of a threatened automobile strike to match the strike that has already closed down the Detroit newspapers, and sound trucks went up and down Atlantic City streets demanding civil rights for Teamsters whose leader, Jimmy Hoffa, was pictured as being cruelly persecuted by Bobby Kennedy. Though it would hardly bother Atlantic City, where the diet in the fancier restaurants runs to flounder stuffed with crabmeat, Middle Western delegates had the news of the livestock delivery strike in Iowa, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Illinois to bother them.

Finally, an astounding "Reader's Digest" account of the Bay of Pigs by a Cuban underground leader, Dr. Mario Lazo, hit the stands at Atlantic City at almost the very moment chosen by the platform committee for the release of its document bearing on the JFK-LBJ record in foreign affairs. Delegates who had been told about a growing pen portrait in the "Digest" of Connecticut's Senator Tom Dodd, who was still hoping for the Vice Presidential lightning to strike, could hardly have missed Dr. Lazo's allegations that it was Kennedy and Dean Rusk, not the men of the CIA or the Pentagon, who had watered down the whole invasion plan at a last fatal moment.

So reality has stirred at least some apprehension at a generally roseate convention. LBJ had better allow for it, lest he pull the sort of rock that ruined an overconfident Tom Dewey in 1948.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Borg, 104 Lincoln Ave., have returned from Muskoka Lake at Bracebridge, Ontario, where they spent a pleasant two-week vacation and again had the pleasure of singing in the United Church of Canada parish.

Funny Girl's Funny Ways

Baked potatoes are no good fresh — they must be old and cooked and reheated several times. What fascinates me are openers and magnetic potholders. What imagination! Who could have thought of things like that? Apple-corrers! What's so fantastic about bombs? It's a grapefruit knife — that's genius.

Life is beautiful when I remember subways, knowing I don't have to take them now, especially in Summer when the huge overhead fans circulate the air, shoving stinky air from one corner to the other.

It was fun to steal. Things seemed so much more valuable. It was not just the package of gum I stole, but also the wrapper, the joke inside, the colors, the printing. Boy, oh boy!

I love pigs. I'm mad for pigs. Anything that's shaped like a pig. I like penguins, too. They're great.

Remember the movie "THEM?" Terrific. Did you ever see the face of the Lone Ranger? He probably had black circles under his eyes and they didn't carry Max Factor in the local general store.

I was bald until I was two.

It's nothing to be a singer or a dancer or an actor. The thing is jugglers. I used to put them down until I saw a pair of jugglers — the timing, the discipline, the precision, the imagination, their sense of humor! It was brilliant.

I was such an anemic kid my mother wouldn't let me take dancing lessons. She was afraid my bones would break.

When I was in Hollywood they asked me if I wanted to be in films. I told them I had a job.

Las Vegas is divine. It's like a big game of Monopoly with real money. I thought I was getting a free cab ride once when I had no singles and the driver accepted a five dollar chip and gave me back four silver dollars. Money means nothing. It's lost and it's won without a word being said. I have never before seen such honesty, such a code of ethics; the dealers take a man's last dollar and give away fortunes — all in silence, all with great dignity.

In some nightclubs, when people offered to buy me a drink, I'd ask for potatoes.

Once I was real strong for Zen Buddhism, but I lost the book.

I would like to live in a dump or a palace. Nothing in between.

Wire hangers and window shades are very frightening.

I hate diamonds. I like garnets, jade, emeralds and rubies in old settings. Interviews are weird. By the time they appear in print they look funny to me, because my attitude changes from week to week. In fact, now I love diamonds!

Only cheap, dirty restaurants — preferably luncheonettes — have good hamburgers. (And, by the way, the best baked potatoes. I'm an expert on those.)

The best fried chicken I know of comes with a TV dinner.

Keeping Well...

IS IT possible for a pregnant woman with a fibroid of the uterus to have a normal delivery? The answer is yes, depending upon the size and location of the tumor. These lesions (myomas) often decrease fertility and increase the chance of premature delivery.

On the other hand, they do not interfere with labor or delivery of the baby unless a large growth near the opening of the uterus is obstructing the passageway. In such instances, caesarean section is required.

Fibroids are benign growths made up of uterine muscle tissue. At least 20 per cent of women over 35 years of age have one or more, frequently without symptoms or knowledge of their existence. They may be tiny or large enough to fill the abdominal cavity. Some are round, others are oblong or knobbed. They may protrude into the cavity of the uterus, whereas those near the surface bulge outward, giving the organ a nodular appearance.

Fibroids become bigger gradually; it may take five years to grow from the size of an olive to that of an orange. The first warning is likely to be a change in the menstrual pattern; the period becomes prolonged and the flow profuse. Pain seldom occurs unless these tumors press on nearby structures.

A pelvic examination is needed to make the diagnosis. Many physicians also recommend a D & C to determine whether symptoms are due to cancer or other disorders.

Removal of the uterus is suggested, especially when the myomas are large and the woman has had her family or is approaching the menopause. Only the fibroids are carefully dissected away from the uterine wall when the victim is young and willing to take her chances on getting pregnant and carrying the child to full term.

J. H. W. writes: What can you tell me about a valve that closes, which prevents entry of food to the stomach?

REPLY—Thickening, or spasm, of the cardia (entrance to the stomach) is a troublesome condition. There is no difficulty in swallowing except that the food sticks in the lower part of the esophagus. The victim often learns that drinking liquid will help solids to pass through the narrowed opening. But in time liquids become just as difficult to swallow as solids. Emotional tension and stress usually aggravate cardiospasm. When sedatives fail to control the disorder, a mechanical dilator must be passed.

Mrs. J. writes: A 1-year-old boy has a protruding navel caused by hernia. Can this be cured without an operation?

REPLY—Umbilical hernias in children usually heal by the second birthday. If they are large and do not heal within 6 to 9 months of continuous strapping, surgery may be indicated.

A. M. writes: Is it normal for the perspiration of an 8-year-old girl to have an odor?

REPLY—It is unusual unless the girl is approaching puberty and the apocrine glands are becoming active. Cleanliness goes a long way because most of the odor is due to bacteria on the moist skin.

F. M. writes: Could adhesions form 20 years after a gall bladder operation?

REPLY—Yes, but in all probability the scars developed shortly after the operation and remained unnoticed for two decades.

The Eternal City by Night...

ROME, Italy — It is 6 p.m. The Eternal City is ablaze with copper shafts of light. The Cavaliere Hilton, high on a western hill, looks down on the city and across it to the blue Alban Hills, where Frascati and Gondofo appear like pockets of snow.

This, of all cities, has always been beautiful, always haughty, always impossible. Everyone sees Rome but, Rome sees no one because it is too busy preening itself. The Caesars thought that all roads led to Rome, but the Italian cab drivers know that sometimes the roads lead nowhere.

The bells of many churches toll the angelus. Few of the 2,000,000 citizens hear it. This is a place of small cars at high speed; of Communist Party Headquarters in the blue shadow of a steeple cross; of smart shopgirls who make their own clothes; of young men in tight slacks and long hair who, having heard of sex, forgot everything else; of doormen who look like admirals and admirals who look like doormen; of priests in black cassocks and flat broad-brimmed hats; of spires and old stucco buildings and sagging shutters and sparkling fountains; a city of narrow alleys and short tempers; where the green of the Borghese Gardens contrasts with the breast-like dome of St. Peter's, which suckles the soul of the Catholic world.

There is a water clock in the park which told time for 300 years, until a little boy tossed a rock through it. The white-columned monument to Victor Emmanuel II, who unified Italy, is 500-feet from the Palazzo Venezia, where Mussolini divided the country. Caesar Augustus, who ordered a census of the Jews when Christ was born, reposes in a tomb across the street from Alfredo's, where Caesar salad is a specialty.

Who can compare the somber light inside St. John Lateran with the bright beams at the sidewalk cafe of Doney, where Roma di notti parades to be seen? The city is a Pandora's box of paradoxes: as jaded as a roue waiting in the shadows, as innocent as an infant in a crib; as old as Romulus, as young and full of anticipation as a convent girl on her first date; as ugly as sudden death and as pretty as the Trevi fountain; the city is devoted to God when it is frightened, and to Bacchus when it is confident.

Once, the music of Aida was heard here; now the radios blare Never on Sunday. An automobile in Rome consists of an accelerator, a horn, and a faceless driver who left his mind in bed. Queues of people wait patiently beneath the main altar of St. Peter's to see the tomb of Pope John XXIII, and other queues wait with equal patience to walk down into the subway.

Along the old Appian Way, Gina Lollobrigida lives behind high walls; Frank Sinatra commutes to the studio by helicopter; Charlton Heston, in a beard, checks his halo on a restaurant hat rack. At Castel Gondolfo, Paul VI, who speaks seven languages, greets a few Korean girls and is forced to use the universal language of a paternal smile as he bestows his blessing.

The Alban Lake is bluer than the sky it mirrors as a water skier draws a straight scar across the placid surface. An American family rides down the Via Veneto in a barouche and a little blonde girl, up front with the driver, says "Man, this is living!" An Italian workman, too poor to afford vino with his cheese and bread, holds a bottle under the thin stream from a fountain and watches the water run up his sleeve.

A peddler in front of St. Mary Major traps tourists with cheap rosaries: "Best bargain ever," he says. "Free." The hotel cashiers transmute millions of American dollars into lire at 610 per buck. The attractive Episcopal, Methodist and Jewish temples are more popular since the ecumenical council took the first firm step toward brotherhood. A young British rabbi stands before St. Paul's Outside-the-Walls and murmurs: "Look at the size of it. My God!"

The sun takes its time setting in the Mediterranean beyond Fumicino and the city is bathed in a dusk of concord blue for a long time. The curtain of day is lowered, and the lights of Rome go on. The city is a radiant dinner plate down inside the seven hills.

The shops clang shut; the steel awnings come down. Traffic is thicker. The old Roman gates of the Caesars are choked with honking automobiles. Waiters float fresh white table cloths over sidewalk tables. The sound of music is louder. Colored lanterns light a Neapolitan cafe in a cobbled alley.

A man on a motorcycle drives with one hand and holds a live chicken in the other. At the Excelsior, well-tailored men sit in the lounge looking over the tops of newspapers at the passing fashions. The night has barely begun, and the music will grow louder and the laughter more raucous. Rome is ready to do as the Romans do.

In a hotel room, Kathleen looks at her dinner and says: "One thing you have to admit, they don't know how to make spaghetti." ...

Warning: Don't Brag in Washington

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — You brag in this town at your own peril.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara held a news conference July 7 to announce his cost reduction program has saved $2.5 billion last year.

Since then there have been 28 reports — little noticed for the most part — by the General Accounting Office pointing out where it said the Defense Department should have saved even more.

The GAO accountants also produced three additional reports pointing out where what they called sloppy supervision on the part of commanders had reduced the combat efficiency of four spot-checked units, including an antiaircraft missile base.

After examining 66 armored personnel carriers and cargo trucks belonging to the 30th Infantry Regiment in Germany, the GAO found 216 major defects and 2,300 less serious ones.

The GAO checked out the maintenance on the reconnaissance and liaison aircraft of the 1st and 2nd Armored divisions at Ft. Hood, Tex., and found it so poor that "the combat readiness of these divisions was impaired."

Poor maintenance, said the GAO, was the primary factor in the crash and total loss of a $200,000 aircraft.

At an unidentified antiaircraft missile base somewhere overseas, the GAO reported the management of spare parts was so inefficient that $30 million worth of missile gear was inoperable.

As for the other GAO reports, they include such findings as these:

—The Army wasted $1.3 million buying utility caps which cost $1.08 each and required special laundering, whereas the Marines and Seabees were buying 57-cent utility caps which could be washed under any circumstances.

—At the U.S. Army Engineer depot just outside Seoul, Korea, was $376,000 worth of unneeded spare parts and the depot was in the process of ordering $101,000 more stock it didn't need.

—Further, the Korean depot had suffered a $12.6 million inventory loss which it hadn't investigated.

Islam Bows to Red Pressure

By JOHN BEST

Canadian Press Correspondent.

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP)—The crumbling or converted mosque is a symbol in Uzbekistan, which with 10 million people is the most populous of the four Soviet republics of Central Asia.

Women were in the background in Moslem times. Now they represent a vital component of Uzbekistan's labor force.

The official Communist Party line is that most people have abandoned religion because of social and economic progress, plus expansion of public education.

"But a certain section of the population continues to profess Islam and freely performs all religious rites," says official literature.

The laws of the republic ostensibly provide for freedom of religion and freedom of antireligious propaganda. But it's easy to see which has had the most powerful impact. You find decaying and locked-up mosques. Others have been converted into apartment houses, libraries, shopping centers, movies and public monuments.

The term "monument" is sometimes a euphemism. One mosque in Bukhara, described as a monument by the local guide, turns out to be a pool hall.

The authorities say 250 mosques operate in Soviet Central Asia. However, some are only makeshift or part-time ones.

While there is no authoritative figure on the number of practicing Moslems in Uzbekistan, one is told there are some 20 million in the U.S.S.R.

Periodically new editions of the Koran are published here. In 1956 there was a printing of 4,000 copies and in 1960 one of 5,000.

While most of Uzbekistan's religious training schools have been closed or converted into museums, one still operates, in Bukhara. It has 35 to 40 students.

Vice Premier Sarvar Azimov of Uzbekistan says that when a mosque is closed it is usually at the request of the congregation.

Atlantic City Fail Safe!

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — It was the third day of the convention in Atlantic City. People all over the country turned on their sets wearily, sat back and yawned, and stared glassily. Suddenly, as the announcer said, "From Atlantic City, New Jersey, the Columbia Broadcasting System presents"—a technician in New York pushed the wrong button. Instead of Atlantic City he set into motion a kinescope of "I Love Lucy." People in their homes sat up in their seats and shouted in joy and amazement. At Convention Hall NBC, which was monitoring the CBS coverage, was flabbergasted.

They got on the phone to Robert Sarnoff, the NBC president. "Sir," a producer shouted, "CBS is showing an old 'I Love Lucy' show in place of the convention."

"The dirty double-crossers," Sarnoff said. "This means war."

He hung up and picked up the hot line to William Paley at CBS.

"Paley, our monitors show you put 'I Love Lucy' on. Unless you call it off, we're going to retaliate with an Elizabeth Taylor 'Movie of the Week.'"

"Wait a minute," Paley shouts, "there's been some mistake. We're trying to get through to the engineer now, but his fail-safe box won't answer. Give us a little time."

"How do I know I can trust you?" Sarnoff says.

"Believe me," Paley says, "my wife's in Atlantic City. Would I have done it purposely, knowing she was there? This is a terrible accident."

"Don't listen to them, sir," an NBC aide whispers. "They're out to get us because of what we did to them in San Francisco."

Sarnoff discusses it with his father, Gen. Sarnoff. "What do you think, General?"

"I think it's a trick. If we don't get our movie on in the next 15 minutes, we won't have a viewer in the United States. But it's your decision, sir."

Sarnoff picks up the phone again. "Paley, this is what we're going to do. We're going to start the film rolling. If you can call off the 'I Love Lucy' show, we'll call back our movie."

"Thanks. Sarnoff. We're trying to contact our engineer by radio now."

Meanwhile every ABC executive in Atlantic City is gathered around the CBS and NBC monitors.

Sen. Humphrey's Qualifications

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Sen. Hubert Humphrey, more than any other Democrat in sight, can match President Johnson in ceaseless energy and working with Congress.

It was hardly a coincidence that Johnson, who Wednesday night told the Democratic convention he wanted the Minnesota senator for his vice presidential running mate, let this be known earlier in the week.

If elected, he wants to make more use of his vice president than any president ever did. Humphrey is a real pro in government. Even the Republican leader of the Senate, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, called him "the most professional of professionals."

Humphrey has extremely broad support among Democrats across the country, although not so much in the South which remembers he was the one who led the 1964 Civil Rights bill to passage in Congress.

Last July the Associated Press conducted a nationwide poll among delegates to this convention on their vice presidential preference. Humphrey topped the list.

By waiting until the last minute to reveal his choice of a partner in this year's campaign, Johnson was able to sound out opinion and see what groups wanted him to pick the man to ride with him.

Organized labor backs Humphrey. Negroes trust him. He is a shining figure to liberals. Dirksen called him the "modern liberal," a phrase which may look simple but isn't.

Where some congressional liberals appear inflexible in demands and positions, Humphrey without sacrificing principles is willing to compromise on issues to get at least part of what he urges.

He wasn't always that way. When he first came to the Senate in 1949 he was the arch-type of the inflexible liberal, both brash and talkative. He is still talkative. But otherwise there is a difference, as he explained:

"If I believe in something, I will fight for it with all I have. But I do not demand all or nothing. Professional liberals want the fiery debate. They glory in defeat, a sort of political masochism."

"The hardest . . . for a politician today is to have the courage to be moderate. It is easy to take an extreme position."

Before Humphrey, now 53, came to Congress he was state director of war production and training in Minnesota during the war, was an assistant director of the War Manpower Commission, and became mayor of Minneapolis where he set up the first municipal peace-time fair employment practices commission.

When he first came to Congress 15 years ago he antagonized southerners and was treated as an outsider by what is called the Senate "Establishment" but now is a respected member of the "Inner Club."

He and Johnson, both arriving in the Senate in 1949, have been friends since. It was Johnson who got Humphrey on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in 1953. He has been on it since, and steadily active in foreign affairs.

He had an eight-hour interview with Premier Khrushchev in 1958 and brought back one of the earliest indications the Russians and Red Chinese might split.

No one perhaps deserves more credit for the nuclear test ban agreement signed with the Soviet Union in 1963. He had worked for it for seven years before then, amid great indifference most of the time.

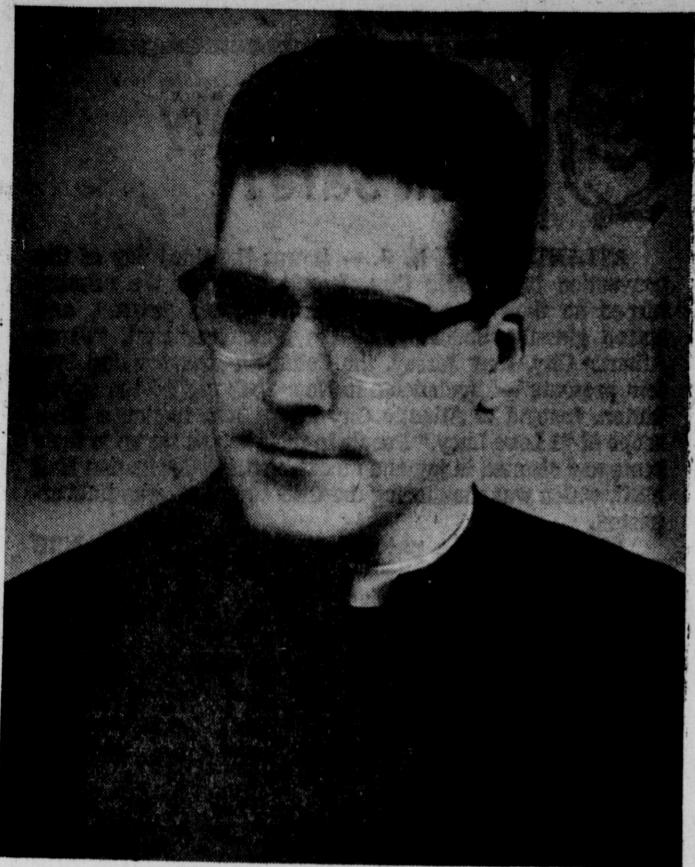

He set up and headed the Senate's disarmament subcommittee and fathered the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. He has traveled abroad and had a particular interest in Latin America.

In 1960 he introduced a bill to establish the Peace Corps months before Sen. John F. Kennedy advanced the idea in the 1960 presidential campaign. Kennedy established the corps after becoming president.

Humphrey has been equally active in domestic problems. The first bill he introduced as a brand new senator was one to provide medical care for the aged through Social Security. He put the same bill in year after year. It's still an unsettled issue but has Johnson's backing.

His biggest achievement, perhaps, was getting through Congress this year's civil rights bill, the strongest measure of its kind in this century.

When Johnson signed it into law and addressed the nation about it, he gave Humphrey a copy of his talk and on the back wrote this note: "To Hubert Humphrey—without whom it couldn't have happened."

Opening lead—queen of diamonds.

There is a certain amount of ambiguity attached to the term "safety play."

Sometimes it indicates a manner of play whereby declarer can assure himself of the loss of no tricks in a given suit if he handles correctly the combination of cards in his own hand and dummy's.

Thus, if declarer has A-Q-9-8-2 and dummy has K-10-5-4, he can protect against the loss of any tricks in the suit by first leading the ace. Now, even if it turns out that either opponent was dealt J-8-7-6, declarer wins five tricks by taking the indicated finesse against the jack. Had declarer first led the king from dummy, he would lose a trick if his left-hand opponent started with the four missing cards.

Sometimes the safety play is employed when declarer is willing to concede one trick in a suit, perhaps unnecessarily, because he wants to be certain not to lose two. Thus, with A-10-9-3-2 facing K-8-5-4, he may lead the two and, if the next player follows low, play the eight. This method guards against the possibility of losing two tricks if either defender was dealt Q-J-7-6.

Another type of safety play is directed not so much to the problem of how to deal with a particular combination of cards in a given suit as it is to the question of how to deal with the play of the entire hand.

Today's hand offers such an illustration. Declarer wins the diamond lead, cashes the king of hearts, and plays another heart. When West follows with the eight, the nine is finessed.

Declarer does not expect the nine to win—the double-finesses because by doing so he assures the contract. If East wins the nine, declarer becomes assured of four heart tricks and the contract. The safety play happens to result in an overtrick for declarer. Without it, though, he would go down.

Ordinarily, in most hands, declarer would finesse dummy's jack as the most lucrative play in the long run, but the safety play is invoked in this deal because it guarantees three no-trump.

PRESENT CONCERT — The Christian Couriers, a male quartet from New Castle, will be heard in a program of sacred music in Calvary Baptist Church at 3 p.m. Sunday. Members of the group are Walter Van, David Kish, Robert Lutz and Jack McMillin.

Quartet Will Sing

The special musical guests of Calvary Baptist Church on Sunday will be The Christian Couriers from New Castle, whose presentation of religious works has earned them a reputation throughout the area.

The quartet flies almost every weekend to some part of the country to carry on what its members refer to as their "mission of presenting the Gospel in song and word."

TOGETHER for the last 10 years and all members of New Castle's First Baptist Church, they are Walter Van, David Kish, Robert Lutz and Jack McMillin. Three of the group are insurance salesmen, the fourth a glass worker.

Two years ago, they purchased the four-place single-engine plane in which they tour the country. Lutz is the preacher for the quartet and will be the speaker in the 11 a.m. worship service in Calvary Church on Sunday. McMillin is the business manager and Van is the group's arranger. It is reported they have several records to their credit.

Their program here on Sunday will be presented at 3 p.m. and an invitation is extended to the public to join the congregation for the event.

AT 7:45 P.M., a farewell for the young people who will be leaving for college has been planned in the form of a cook-out. All are asked to meet at the church, bringing their own hot dogs or hamburgs and rolls. The committee arranging the affair will provide the beverage, corn, catsup, etc.

Because of the late afternoon concert, there will be no regular evening service.

Listed on the calendar in the coming week are these activities: Monday, 7 p.m., visitation. Wednesday, 7 p.m., prayer and Bible study, also youth prayer time; 8 p.m., deacons' meeting.

The Basic Side

IT'S that time again...the time that challenges anew an army of vigorous American youth to the task of preparation in basic education that will equip them with know-how for their tomorrows. Here young minds fresh from their bowl of wheaties, assemble for classroom and playground training. Dear Teacher, responsibility lies heavy on your shoulders. Don't forget that along with reading and writing and arithmetic—lessons in how to live God's way are needed. Teachers and students alike have God to honor and your country to save right there in your classrooms. Always remember, "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver." Proverbs 25:11. Blending of the academic with the spiritual lessons of Jesus, the greatest teacher, offers a moral and spiritual constitution possessing all the qualities basic in life.

The Ninety and Nine Were Safe; — But One!?

WELCOMED AT COFFEE HOUR — Mayor Arthur Langdon is shown with group of students from other countries, who were guests of honor at the YWCA yesterday morning. Foreign Students Welcomed at Coffee Hour

Six representatives from as many different lands were present at a coffee hour yesterday morning at the YWCA. They represented the new group of foreign students who are here to spend varying lengths of time visiting families in Warren. Some are here for only a few weeks before going on to college, while others will be here for the school year.

MISS DYRUNN Oskarsdattir of Iceland, was introduced by her hostess, Mrs. Robert Schumann who admitted having difficulties grappling with the language, which, she said, is a combination of Nordic and German.

Elmer Solano, a guest of the Clair Prouds, was presented by Proud. Elmer plans to join the U. S. Army and then go on to study in this country, either to become a doctor or for some position in the aviation field.

A GUEST from Bangkok, Thailand, Miss Nisa Udomthai, arrived at the Jamestown airport only Wednesday night, and though she and her "family," the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Kramer, sat up well into the night, they are still having trouble communicating. She will be here only a few weeks and then is on her way to the University of Chicago where she will be studying linguistics.

Gino Oddone from Italy also arrived Wednesday night. He has the distinction of having three hosts while he is here. One of them, Mrs. C. P. Spiridon, explained that Gino has had five years in college—two of them in medical school. She added that one thing this program helps you realize is that "people are the same everywhere."

The social affair was arranged by the Public Affairs Committee of the YWCA, with Mrs. Samuel Bonavita in charge. Assisting were Mrs. Thomas Schorman, Miss Sunny Lucia, Mrs. Reese Campbell, Mrs. Wade Redding, Mrs. Joseph Lytle, and Mrs. John Fanaritis.

Mrs. Clifford Gordon, president of the Warren County Council of Republican Women, presented each student with a ticket to the chicken barbecue being sponsored by the Republican Party in Youngsville on Sept. 5.

Progress in Veterans Benefits Is Hailed by John S. Gleason

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The administrator of veterans affairs said today that in the past four years "there has been almost unparalleled progress in the field of veterans legislation and benefits." He also characterized critics of such benefits as having lost faith in America.

Regional GOP Meeting Slated For Harrisburg

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania Republicans will host a regional meeting of party leaders here Sept. 3 to map strategy for the fall campaign.

Republican State Chairman Craig Truax said today party representatives from Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, Delaware and the District of Columbia will attend the six-hour session.

A question-and-answer news conference will follow the meeting, Truax said.

In a prepared address, John S. Gleason, Jr., told the 20th annual National Convention of the Amvets, "We are paying out in pension and compensation well over $300 million more than we were in 1960."

"The concern for the rehabilitation of veterans felt by a grateful nation...expressed 20 years ago in the GI Bill...has been reaffirmed by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson...by the very nature of the intense activity in veterans affairs since 1960."

The term "pig" iron is an old expression in the industry that comes from the sand molds into which the molten iron was poured. The central runner of the trough was called the sow and the small molds on each side of the trough was thought to resemble a family of pigs.

THE JAPANESE guest is Miss Yoko Horie from Nagoya who is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dalrymple. She will be a senior at the high school this year, and plans to return to Japan for college.

The Fred Wilsons of Irvine are the temporary parents of Miss Maggy Differding, who comes from northwestern France near the Belgium border. She has been here since the 15th of Aug., having sailed on the Seven Seas and then flown to Buffalo.

MRS. JOHN Fanaritis introduced Mayor Arthur Langdon, who welcomed the visitors to Warren and added that he hoped that "someday the nations of the world will learn to live with peace and harmony, and all of us will be good neighbors." Mrs. Fanaritis said, "Brotherhood is not just an empty phrase that you read about" and pointed out that there were representatives of many countries in the room, though possibly their families had come to this country many generations ago.

13 Are Hurt As Stunt Cars Crash Fence

RHINEBECK, N.Y. (AP) — Thirteen persons were injured slightly Thursday when one of two stunt cars driven by Pennsylvanians rammed through a fence at a "Hell Driver" show at the Dutchess County Fair.

Police said the two drivers—Thomas Howard, 24, of Mifflintown, and Howard Renninger Jr., 23 of Mifflin—were winding up their act when the bumpers of the cars locked briefly as they slid to a stop after racing down the track alongside each other.

One car veered off and crashed through a chain-link fence. The injured were treated for cuts and bruises at a hospital and released. Neither driver was hurt.

Your Forest Ranger

By L. E. STOTZ

Trees like annual crops need to be harvested at the right time, and then a new crop established promptly. It takes a hundred years for sawtimber to reach maturity in the northern hardwood type in the Allegheny National Forest. Some twelve different commercial species of trees are found in this northern hardwood type.

IF YOU decided to plant 12 different kinds of vegetables in your garden, but instead of planting each kind in separate rows you mixed all 12 kinds of seed together and sowed this mixture, you might have some idea of the management problems that we face in getting a new timber crop established after patch clear-cutting.

Some of the seed for a new crop will already have fallen to the ground before the timber was harvested. Other seed will be carried in by birds, animals, or the wind from adjoining uncut timber. The variety of seed that is available for the new crop may be beech nuts, black cherry drupes, winged samaras of sugar maple, red maple, and white ash, tiny winged seeds of hemlock, winged nuts of yellow and black birch, orange-red fleshy seeds of cucumber; pea-shaped seeds of basswood, the fat acorns of red oak, and the three-inch cone-like fruit of the yellow poplar.

ALL FOREST tree seed is relied to some degree by wildlife, and much of it is eaten. Some of the seed falls on rocks, stumps, or barren ground, and fails to germinate. Other seed requiring mineral soil to get established lands on thick inhospitable duff instead, or is choked out by dense grass.

But nature is lavish in her production of seed. Enough escapes the animals and birds and finds hospitable ground upon which to get established to start a fine new timber crop.

NOW INTO the lush young forest that is not much taller than the vegetables in your garden at home steps the first deer, then another, and another. Deer are selective feeders when there is a variety of tender browse to feed on. Some of the 12 different species of young trees struggling for a place in the sun are browsed more heavily than others.

The first 10 years in the lives of the young trees is the most critical. It takes that long for some species to grow out of range of deer. If deer numbers are kept within bounds by annual harvests of both sexes, enough young trees will get through this critical period to guarantee an adequate stocking for the 100-year period that lies ahead. At the same time, the surplus young trees will have furnished a variety of browse for deer, and food and cover for small game.

Let the present herd build up by declaring a moratorium on antlerless seasons, and the excess deer would make such heavy inroads into the young forest that it would be doomed. The same build-up in deer numbers could wipe out your vegetable garden if you live in the deer country. Should this happen, you would have something in common with the forester who walking through a 20-acre clear-cut looked down upon the stunted remnant of a once-promising young forest.

CAN'T REVERSE STANDARDS

CAIRO (AP) — A jobless husband failed to stop his wife's divorce action even though he offered to do all the housework while she held a steady job.

The wife claimed that he forced her to work so he could laze around the house all day.

In granting the divorce, Judge Ahmed Lutfy declared it was "irregular to current social standards" for the husband to do housework.

Troops Guard Saigon After Mob Uprisings

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Mobs roamed the littered streets of Saigon today, waving machetes and meat cleavers as heavily armed troops stood guard to prevent further bloodshed.

Street gangs defied pleas from Catholic, Buddhist, and government leaders to lay down their arms and go home.

A mob of 200 predominantly Buddhist youths carrying clubs and hatchets set fire to a Catholic newspaper office and school while police looked on. The incident was a renewal of Thursday's organized violence that turned the capital into a nightmare of lawlessness and mob rule.

Scores were wounded in fierce battles that left the streets cluttered with bricks, broken bottles and glass. Hospitals reported more than 60 innocent persons were injured.

Police placed the death toll at four. Newsmen, however, counted at least eight bodies.

Old political and religious antagonisms between Buddhists and Roman Catholics that led to the downfall last November of President Ngo Dinh Diem's government stirred the fighting.

The instability in the Communist-threatened nation posed a major test for the triumvirate of Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh and two other top officers selected by the military junta to lead South Viet Nam for two months.

The role of the triumvirate remained cloudy. Khanh, 37, told a news conference the junta had not accepted his resignation as president.

The leader also said the junta, which was supposed to have dissolved, still was at work seeking a political solution for the nation.

Focal points of tension today remained the joint general staff headquarters near Saigon's airport, the central market, Saigon's main radio station and a high school. Several hundred demonstrators milled outside the gates of the general staff headquarters.

Troops armed with tear gas stood guard behind barbed wire barricades strung across the entrance.

State 'Clean' Of Polio for Current Year

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania has yet to record a case of polio for 1964, the State Health Department reported today. Health officials, however, do not like to discuss the situation.

"It's like a no-hit baseball game in progress," said Dr. Charles L. Wilbar, state health secretary. "It's considered inadvisable to discuss the outcome until the last batter is out."

Never in the 54-year-old history of keeping records on polio cases has the health department gone this far into the summer without recording a case.

Usually polio reaches its peak in August and begins to decline in October. Last year the state had experienced 47 cases at this date.

The department reported Thursday that pneumonia and influenza claimed 4,294 lives in Pennsylvania last year — the most since 1947. Of the total, 83.5 per cent occurred among persons over 44 years of age.

Investing Wisely

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I'm in a predicament. I own, on 70 per cent margin: Syntex, bought at 83; American Enka, at 7 1/2; Texas Gulf Sulphur, at 5 1/4. What shall I do? I have losses on all. Shall I trade, try to make a few points here and there, as a broker suggests, to help me pay off my margin? Or stay put with these stocks, wait for a few points rise and then sell out?

A. You borrowed the limit to buy three volatile issues, two of which—Syntex and Texas Gulf—had been the subject of wild trading. Obviously you were not investing but speculating for a profit. Instead, you had a loss of several thousand dollars.

I can't understand your question: "Shall I trade, try to make a few points here and there?"

Isn't that only a modest version of exactly what you were trying to do when you got caught?

I'm sure your broker would like nothing better than a continuation of such a "program"—which is actually only more of the same.

Secondly, you promise "to be good," sell out and presumably "never go there any more" if the market will only be kind and bail you out this one time. I'm afraid the market isn't that accommodating.

American Enka is selling at a reasonable price/earnings ratio but you must have realized that both Syntex and Texas Gulf were bouncing around on a glamour stock "kick" that may or may not prove to be justified.

This column has never attempted to hold the hand of speculators. And I'm sure you must realize that such a course would be pure folly.

I'm afraid you're going to have to pay dearly for your speculating. If you still have these large losses when the market averages are at an all-time high you have to hope for miracles in your individual issues.

Q. I bought some Westinghouse Electric last year at 37 1/2.

I have a profit on some other securities. Should I take the loss on Westinghouse now to offset those gains, or hold it?

A. Westinghouse has been one of the disappointing issues of recent years and is now selling not far above its low point of the last 10 years. You can get a debate in Wall Street on: has Westinghouse turned around, or is it still to be avoided. I do not have the answer. But I would make these points:

A new management now heads up the operation, changes having been initiated by the installation of Donald C. Burnham as president a year ago. Payroll has been reduced by about 3,000 persons. The worst of the price-fixing troubles seem behind it.

Second quarter figures were the best for that period in four years and the annual meeting in April heard official expectations that the second half would show improvement.

Finally, you can establish a tax loss as late as 3:30 p.m. Dec. 31.

Taking one consideration with another, I'd vote for giving the company more time, hoping to at least cut the loss by year-end.

Q. I hold 1000 Mining and Petroleum Corp. of America. I can find nothing on it.

A. That makes two of us. Write to the secretary of state of the state which chartered the corporation. You'll find the state named on the front of the stock certificate.

A reader points out that a recent answer to a question on commissions was incomplete. The question referred to commissions before and after a stock split. In the case of odd lots, there normally is not too much difference. But if the investor is talking of round lots, there is a difference.

For example, if you were considering the purchase of 100 shares of a $40 stock scheduled for a 2 for 1 split, it would pay to buy the stock before the split.

NEW YORK (AP)—Chrysler and General Motors were in active demand as the stock market recovery continued early this afternoon in moderately active trading.

Wall Street's worries about a possible auto strike were lessened as the result of postponement by the auto union of the strike deadline to Sept. 9 from Aug. 31.

Both Chrysler and GM opened on sizable blocks and touched new highs.

The aerospace stocks continued their rally, helped additionally by President Johnson's reference to increased defense spending in his speech at the democratic convention.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon rose 1.0 to 314.8 with industrials up 1.9, raises up .7 and utilities unchanged.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.18 at 838.43.

GM was outstanding in its group, keeping a gain of well over a point as it traded consistently at its newest peak. Chrysler was more erratic, advancing about a point then settling back to a fractional gain. Ford lost a fraction. American Motors and Studebaker were steady.

United Aircraft, up more than a point, continued to respond to its raised estimate of profits. Boeing, Douglas Aircraft and Lockheed were fractional gainers. Republic Aviation sank about a point on news of its dividend omission.

IBM and U.S. Smelting spurted more than 4 each. Gains exceeding a point were made by General Electric and International Harvester.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal tax collections reached a record of $112 billion during the fiscal year that ended June 30.

During the last four months of the period, the income tax cut was in effect. But most of the taxes collected during this period were on 1963 income, so they did not reflect any substantial impact of the tax cut.

Treasury officials said it will be impossible to assess the full effect of the tax cut until taxes on 1964 income are collected next April 15.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Philippines reached agreement in principle Thursday on a treaty to avoid double taxation.

The treaty assures American companies which pay taxes in the Philippines that they will be given a credit on the payment of taxes owed to the United States.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has been accused of making excessive living-quarter allowances to civilian employees in Japan which in 1962 averaged 40 per cent above allowable expenses.

A report Thursday to Congress by the comptroller general's office said some of the employees received "windfall profits."

Erie Offers Long-Term Port Lease

ERIE — Port Director Ned V. Collander has announced that the Erie Port Commission is making available, for the first time, a long-term stevedoring lease to operate the Port of Erie's modern Duquesne Marine Terminal beginning April 1, 1965.

SELECTION OF the successful bidding firm is expected to be made before November 30 of this year, and the lease will be effective April 1, when the firm will assume operations at the Duquesne Terminal. The current lease with Western Stevedoring Company expires March 31, 1965.

In requesting inquiries, Collander declared that "the Commission's program is based on the terms of a recent Pennsylvania law which permits establishment of long-term leases for progressive shipping terminals and it is consistent with long range development plans mapped for the Port of Erie several years ago."

The Port Director emphasized that "the length of the lease will largely depend upon the ability of the lessee to provide efficient professional operations of the Terminal, plus the lessee's willingness and commitment to offer capital improvements at the Port." In connection with the latter, the Port Director noted, "We are already nearing completion of the two-million dollar East Bay landfill project which will add new cargo facilities and business expansion potential to the Port, and stevedore firms bidding for the lease will have an option on East Bay project facilities. A full review of this phase, along with other relevant data, will be distributed to bidders who request our prospectus which the Commission will make available by Sept. 30.

AT PRESENT, the Duquesne Marine Terminal encompasses more than 60,000 square feet of modern sprinklered warehouse space, and is serviced by complete and readily accessible rail and trucking facilities. Operating equipment includes a 140-ton heavy lift Crawler-type crane, and a 30-ton dockside traveling Gantry crane, providing full handling diversification from light-weight silk purses to heavy locomotives.

The shipping season at the Port of Erie opens annually in mid-April, and continues well into the winter season. In 1963, the last ocean-going vessel to sail from the Duquesne Marine Terminal departed with cargo on Dec. 7.

Collander noted that the Port Commission has "experienced a long history of mutually beneficial relations with labor, maritime and cargo and freight regulatory agencies, and is hopeful of continuing this successful tradition in the future. Continuous capital investment in dredging and 27-foot deep water projects are now and will continue to be part of the long-range program of growth for the Port of Erie, and the Commission expects the bidding stevedore firms to offer an established record of successful experience in handling maritime cargoes as a primary qualification for a long-term lease.

Our goal is to continue the growth program, launched with the opening of the Seaway, and accelerating via the continuing expansion of world trade at the Port of Erie."

LONDON (AP)—British archaeologists report they have made "sensational" discoveries in the area in Egypt soon to be flooded by the Aswan High Dam.

The report said the bishop's tomb was found in the fortified town of Kasr Ibrim, once the southernmost frontier of the Roman Empire.

DPMA Joins JCC To Offer New Refresher Course

The Penn-York Chapter of the Data Processing Management Association, in cooperation with Jamestown Community College, announces the presentation of a refresher course to prepare candidates for the certificate in data processing examination.

THE CERTIFICATE in data processing is one of a number of educational programs inaugurated by the association to provide an academic framework whereby those entering the field will have a guideline of study.

At the same time it provides a program of continuous higher education for those already engaged in the field.

Such a program is made mandatory by the dynamic nature of automatic data processing systems, the increasing emphasis on mathematical methods in business decision-making and the projected national need for managers trained in specialized techniques, who can make efficient use of electronic computers and communication devices.

THE AWARD of the certificate in data processing is based on a successful completion of prescribed courses of academic study, three years direct experience in data processing, high character qualifications and passing the CDP examination.

The Navy says it asked for permission to dock the submarines so that crews can go ashore for leave.

There were no immediate indications when the first nuclear powered submarine would arrive.

WAIIDHAUS, Germany (AP)—Two 21-year-old Czechoslovakians rammed a truck through Communist border barriers today and escaped to West Germany under heavy Red fire, German police reported.

The two escaped at Rozvadov, main border crossing point between Czechoslovakia and West Germany.

LONDON (AP)—British archaeologists report they have made "sensational" discoveries in the area in Egypt soon to be flooded by the Aswan High Dam.

The annual report of the British Academy said Thursday the finds included the tomb of a bishop of the 14th century A.D. and details about Egyptian forts which existed 20 centuries before the birth of Christ.

The report said the bishop's tomb was found in the fortified town of Kasr Ibrim, once the southernmost frontier of the Roman Empire.

of educational programs inaugurated by the association to provide an academic framework whereby those entering the field will have a guideline of study.

At the same time it provides a program of continuous higher education for those already engaged in the field.

Such a program is made mandatory by the dynamic nature of automatic data processing systems, the increasing emphasis on mathematical methods in business decision-making and the projected national need for managers trained in specialized techniques, who can make efficient use of electronic computers and communication devices.

THE AWARD of the certificate in data processing is based on a successful completion of prescribed courses of academic study, three years direct experience in data processing, high character qualifications and passing the CDP examination.

As SAM DAWSON Sees It

(Business News Analysis)

NEW YORK (AP)—Home building lags but offsetting it is a big gain in contracts for non-residential construction.

As the economic upswing heads toward its 43rd month, a record for peacetime, some see the construction industry, a prime factor, pulling out of the leveling-off period that marked earlier months of the year.

The residential slump continues, in many areas, however, with few signs of joining the other segments of the economy that still point impressively higher.

In July nonresidential building contracts were 22 per cent above the like months in 1963 in dollar value. And this gain helped pull the total of all building commitments for the first seven months of the year 8 per cent above the like period of 1963.

The midsummer advance in other than home building brought total construction contracts for the first seven months of 1964 to $28,607,365,000, also a gain of 8 per cent over the previous year.

July saw the first marked advance of the year, which otherwise had held nearly level after a late 1963 jump.

Office building was a weak sister in July. In contract value this category sagged by 20 per cent in July, and for the seven months was trailing 1963 by 10 per cent.

But some other forms of building activity looked much better for the future, when the contracts are translated into actual construction. In July contracts for school buildings were up 29 per cent. The gain for hospital building was 40 per cent, and for public buildings 36 per cent.

Street and highway contract letting was a weak spot, dropping 6 per cent in the month.

Mortgage costs have eased in many regions as the home building boom slackened while personal savings accounts grew in institutions that use such funds to finance the building industry.

Suit Charges Collusion Between Markets, Union

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A $6 million civil antitrust suit accuses three major supermarket chains and the Retail Clerks Union of conspiring to force area-wide labor contracts on independent food stores.

The suit was filed in federal court here Thursday by Vornado Inc., of Garfield, and five subsidiary firms including Two Guys from Harrison, Inc.

Vornado charged that the defendants tried to force an area-wide contract on its Philadelphia area stores.

The defendants are Food Fair, Inc.; Acme Stores, Inc.; The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. and the Retail Clerks International Association, AFL-CIO.

Vornado alleged that through a conspiracy violating the Sherman Antitrust Act, the defendants tried to upset Vornado's competitive position in the Philadelphia area.

The suit said the conspiracy began last April after a uniform Baltimore area contract was approved by Acme, Food Fair and A.P. The settlement ended a retail clerks strike against Acme in Baltimore.

Last month, a Philadelphia area contract was approved by the three chains, the suit said.

According to the plaintiffs, the defendants are trying to impose a similar policy throughout the country to the financial injury of independent food stores.

The Retail Clerks were accused of preventing their locals in Northern New Jersey, Borden-town and Allentown, Pa., from bargaining with the plaintiffs on store-by-store basis.

The complaint asks $1 million compensation and $5 million in punitive damages.

PUZZLES PASTIMES

Think You're Smart, Eh?

"I ACCEPT the universe," a youth is quoted as saying to Thomas Carlyle. What was Carlyle's reply?

Think fast: What number multiplied by one-half of itself equals 12½?

What's so odd about the way a horse eats?

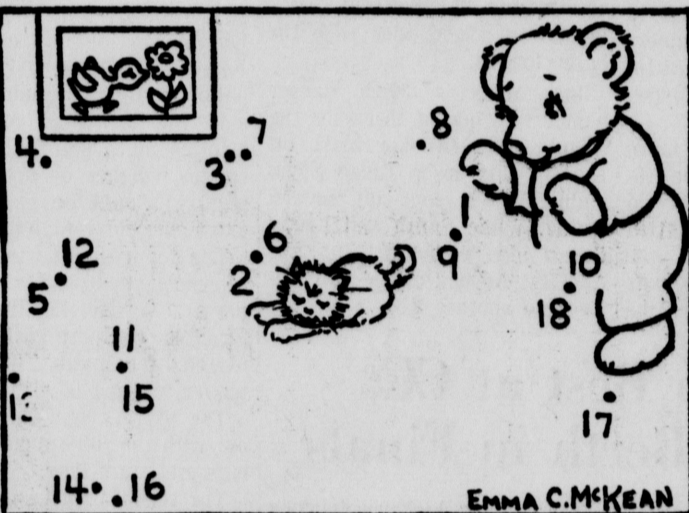

The names Dixie Belle, Charlestown Grey, Congo, Black Diamond and Cannon Ball read like entries in a harness race. Actually these are varieties of what popular edible fruit?

Keep this under your hat, but a smart merchandising executive purchased an odd number of quality felt hats at $10 each, and one straw panama for a whole number of dollars less than $10. If the total cost of the hats is a perfect square, what was the price of the panama?

Prone to Laughs, Physically?

THINK you're in good shape physically? Try this: Lie down flat on your back, gather your hands together beneath your head, and then try to get to your feet without using either your elbows or hands. It's a good stunt for an old-clothes party.

It's a Cat Napping Dilemma

"HEY, you're not supposed to be sleeping there," says Beanie Bear to the kitten, above. "Find yourself some other resting place, we're expecting company." To find out where kitty's snoozing, draw a line from dot 1 to dot 2 to dot 3, and so on, until you have touched at all the numbered dots. Where a dot has two numbers, use dot twice.

Buggy Wheel Blues

IF AN old-fashioned buggy wheel has twenty-one spokes between spokes, how many spokes has it—20, 21 or 22? Think this over before answering rashly. You may have to draw a diagram to answer.

Ride the Color-Copter

Fill in coloration above according to these indicators (→):

SEVILLE, Spain—Basques, Galicians, Catalans—Spaniards all—do as their Andalusian countrymen do when visiting this ancient city's annual Spring Fair. Men don tailored horsemen's habits with wide-brimmed sevillano hats. Women dress in the full-skirted polka-dot garb of gypsies. Flamenco and other spirited Spanish dances are performed in private cabanas and on the streets. Special bullfights and equestrian displays add to the excitement. Seville is ranked next to Madrid as a center of Spain's art, literature and education. Two famous operas—Carmen and The Barber of Seville—have the city as a setting. Next Week: Karachi.

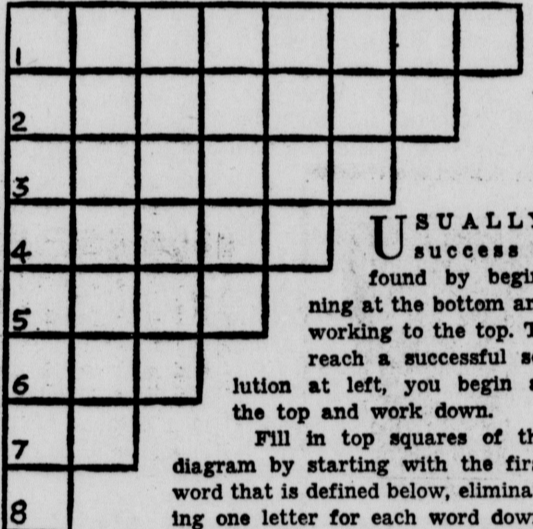

Put and Take Test

FROM a certain sum a bank teller took away a third and put in its place $50. From the resulting sum, he took away a fourth and put in its place $70. Then he had $130. What was the original sum? You may be able to solve this in your head, if you're smart.

Listen, World!

PHRASES now in common speech testify how widely persons have listened to, and perhaps been influenced by certain men and women. Can you supply what's omitted here in a quotation from the past? "—, the least honorable form of war upon the weak."—Paul Richard. (The correct insertion is a seven-letter word.) If you don't know, guess.

Down Hill All the Way

USUALLY, success is found by beginning at the bottom and working to the top. To reach a successful solution at left, you begin at the top and work down. Fill in top squares of the diagram by starting with the first word that is defined below, eliminating one letter for each word down.

1. Ribbon. 2. A vessel. 3. Course of water. 4. Water in the state of vapor. 5. Two horses harnessed. 6. Beverage. 7. By. 8. Scarlet letter.

Eating Its Way to Extinction

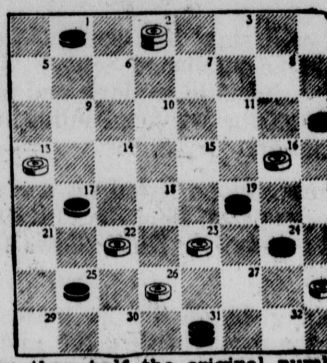

WHAT can you name that continually devours itself in order to keep going? Answer in one minute, if you can.

Point the Way?

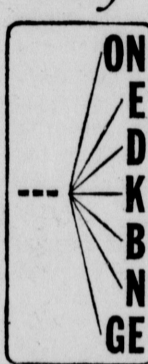

SUPPOSE you were to find a small circle drawn upon a sheet of paper and were asked to find its center. You have a pencil and a ruler with which to work and nothing more, other than the paper itself. How could you go about finding the circle's center with reasonable accuracy? Try thinking this out before consulting answer below. You may find the information useful sometime.

It's Your Turn to Win

MILLARD HOPPER poses another checker problem for fans who would like to play a better game. White checkers, moving up the board, to move and win in five moves is the challenge. Clue: Since more than half the original number of pieces remain on the board, it is reasonable to assume that a five-move win ends with a flourish. Hopper's solution is presented below for those who need it.

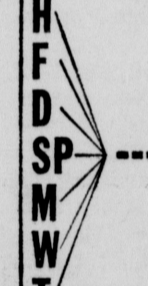

Word Play

ONE WORD leads to seven others in this exercise—providing you find the right word. See how quickly you can insert a three-letter word in each of the diagrams, above and below, to form seven words reading across.

All of the words formed are in common usage. There's no need to rack your brain for obscure terms.

Picture Perfect?

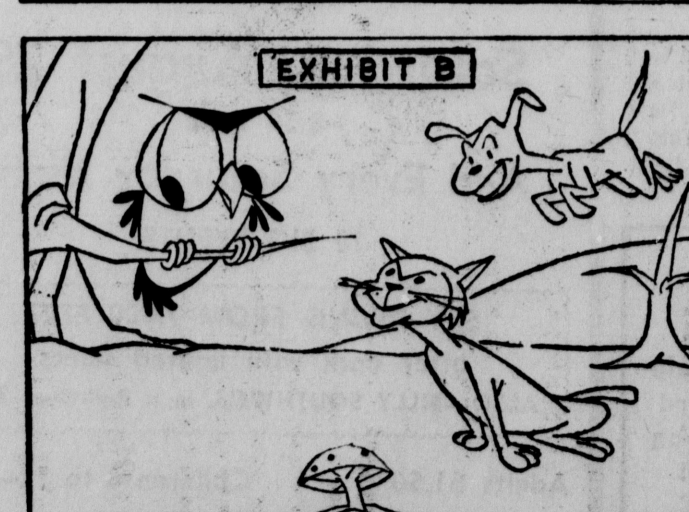

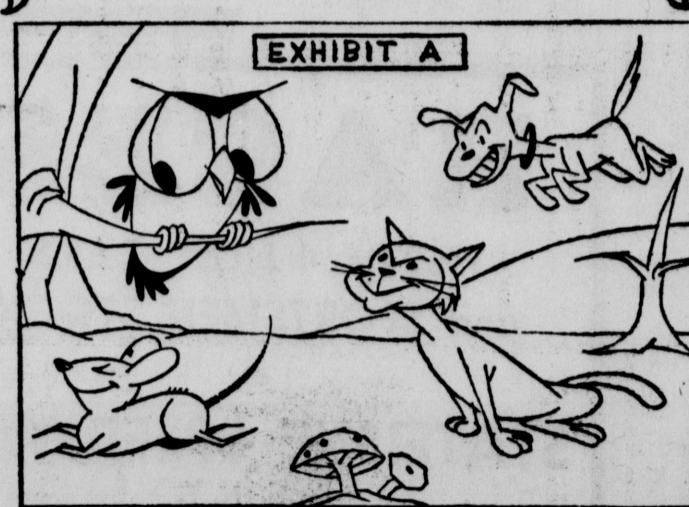

THE President whose picture is on the U. S. $1,000 bill has the same name as a city. That would be: Jackson, Madison, Cleveland??

1-Leather moccasins. 2-Word of Christ from the Cross (Mark 15:34) 3-Refuse this and choose the good (Isa. 7:15) 4-Natives of Colon. 5-The doubting disciple (John 20:27)

CROSSWORD PUZZLE SOLUTION

6-Paul was one (Acts 22:27) 7-Pitcher. 8-Sea bird. 9-Cultivating implement. 10-Money of account. 11-The song thrush. 12-Upright. 13-Chest sounds. 14-Dispatched. 15-Black wood. 16-A monstrosity (R.C. Ch.) 17-Rope. 18-Cry of Bacchanals. 19-English romantic novelist. 20-Demand as due. 21-Roue. 22-South American country. 23-Leave out. 24-Be conveyed. 25-The sweetsop. 26-Hungarian composer. 27-Levantine ketch. 28-Son of Benjamin (I Chron. 8:1) 29-Covered with gore. 30-Small arachnids. 31-Plowed land. 32-Assessor. 33-Aquatic mammal. 34-Early center of Celtic Church. 35-Snack and — 36-Scope. 37-Japanese weight. 38-Germ. 39-Wine vessel.

SMART GALLERY

USE YOUR WITS and eyes to find a single error of factual circumstance in both drawings above, and then look for six differences in detail between Exhibit A and Exhibit B. Solution at right.

Who's it?

HE in 1850, probably in Scotland. He was commissioned to put down piracy by William II, but instead, became a pirate himself. The loot he captured is thought to have been buried off the tip of Long Island. Eventually, he was arrested, tried and hung in London in 1701. His treasure is still being sought. He was what well known buccaneer?

Answer: William Kidd. He was a Scottish privateer who was commissioned by the British government to hunt for pirates in the Caribbean. Instead, he became a pirate himself and was eventually captured and executed in London.

UP & AT 'EM COLOR SCHEME

D'JEVER have a visitor call early in the morning—even before the alarm went off—and demand that you get out of bed? Chances are, you'd like to sleep longer, but no amount of pleading will help. Well, that's what's happening in Color-by-Number Fun Land today, as you may observe by adding the following hues: 1—Turquoise. 2—Flesh (pink). 3—Bright red. 4—Yellow. 5—Light blue. 6—Dark blue. 7—Brown. 8—Tan. 9—Dark brown. Apply colors neatly, natch.

Take a Walk Through the Zoo

PUT YOURSELF in Brother's shoes, above, and see if you can visit the turtle, giraffe, polar bear, kangaroo and monkey, in that order, as you make your way through the local zoo. No fair taking shortcuts; try to retrace as few steps as possible. Arrows indicate where journey is to begin and where it is to end.

Head for Figuring?

WHEN a certain number is increased by three, and also diminished by three, the product of the sum and difference will be 55. What is the number? See if you can solve this in your head. No fair peeking below.

Paper-Money Caper

IF YOU can solve this, you deserve to be rich. Make plain PAPER into MONEY, with only five intermediate changes, alternating one letter at a time. Clue: One step includes a fur-bearing animal. Time limit is five minutes.

T-M Sponsoring Contest For 'Armchair Coaches'

The Warren Times-Mirror this fall will sponsor a football contest in which armchair prognosticators can pick winning football teams and win up to $100 per week.

The contest will start the week of Sept. 7 with the first ballot to be published Sept. 8. The contest will be based on scholastic, college and professional games to be played the weekend following the publication of the ballot.

Twenty teams will be listed on each ballot. In order to win the top prize, 18 of the 20 winning teams must be picked correctly. This allows for two upsets each week.

Anyone picking 18 of the 20 teams correctly will win $50. In the event of ties, the money will be divided equally. If the person is a home subscriber to The Times-Mirror there will be a $50 bonus added to the $50 in prize money.

A tie, however, will be hard to come by. In order to ensure that ties are far and few between, a "tie-breaker" will also be published. Listed on the ballot besides the 20 games will be a box in which each entrant must indicate the number of net yards he feels the Pittsburgh Steelers will gain on the ground in their game over the weekend.

In order for a ballot to be eligible, all parts, including the tie-breaker, must be filled in. Additional rules and more information on the contest will be published at a later date.

A Cat Named Robert

LOS ANGELES — The neighbors call their cat Robert, which is all right, although personally I see a Siamese answering more readily to a name like Pone Kingetch, or Sarit Thanarat.

The evening was warm. I stepped out on the patio for a period of repose and who should I meet out there but Robert. He had captured a hamster, no doubt belonging to someone's kid, and he chose our yard as his Colosseum.

For reasons not easy to explain, cats have always had it in for me. People I know speak rapturously of these creatures, pointing to their loyalty, their affection and their ability to sustain themselves.

Never, for instance, have you heard of someone coming home at night and having to walk the cat.

In my experience, however, cats have been bad news. There was the time that I was at the home of Patterson Greene, the famous music critic. We stood in the living room, discussing Mozart. If the truth is known, we were also having a scotch and soda.

Suddenly, the Greenes' Siamese, reclining peacefully atop the piano, leaped on my back and clawed through a light shirt, leaving me wounded. I also spilled the drink on Mrs. Greene's rug.

Story Never Believed

People are always covering up for cats. This wanton attack on me, for example, was ascribed to a repressed childhood in which the Siamese was actually getting even with his father, who stayed out nights.

The next day, as I bared my lusty body in the yard, my wife noticed the wounds.

"Where did you get those scratches on your back?" she asked suspiciously.

"Well, I was having a scotch and soda," I began, "and this cat was on top of the piano, and suddenly he jumped me . . ."

Do you know, to this day, that woman has never believed my story.

A teenage dependent of mine is allergic to cats. Each time she goes near one, her eyes swell, thus requiring a shot, for which a bill arrives for $10.

I have discussed this with her, and it turns out that, she, too, has had a repressed childhood, only she is getting even with her father directly.

History shows that people have been getting pleasure out of cats since 3000 B. C. The Egyptians regarded them as a special emissary of one of the gods.

No Threat to Wills

It is ironic that my luck with the cat should be so bad. Not long ago, we offered shelter to one, taking the liberty of naming him Muhammad Alley. He ate like a member of the family. Then one day he asked for seconds on lamp chop bones. Rejected, he took off. And we haven't seen him since.

People here suspect that he was hit by a car, which is always a possibility in the case of cats. They pose no threat to Maury Wills as base runners. I mean, cats just don't get the jump on a car that they should.

Take a fellow like Joe Adcock. He knows he's lost that extra step. Do you catch him stealing any more? Cats should acknowledge their failings and stay on the curb.

Yet, cat-lovers rave about the intelligence of their pets.

"Why won't they sit up and do tricks?" you ask. "They're too smart for such childish games," the cat-lover answers. "That kid stuff is for dogs."

The inference is that if you want to engage a cat at his level, you should ask him, say, to play chess.

You won't catch me putting the knock on cats, but I will remind you that it's safer to set a beer on the piano than a Siamese.

AL Owners To Meet On Yank Sale

CBS May Forget Whole Deal

BOSTON (AP) — At long last, after considerable discussion, consternation, unfavorable publicity and some apparent infighting, the American League powers that be are going to get together face to face and discuss the sale of the New York Yankees to CBS.

What's more, says the Columbia Broadcasting System, if it doesn't come out right, they'll pull out of the whole affair.

Just what prompted the meeting is questionable.

The Yankees, in a formal statement, said Topping "wishes to make it known that President Cronin has acceded to his request that a meeting be called to resolve any possible doubt as to the validity of the transfer."

And, in Chicago, Arthur Allyn, president of the White Sox and an outspoken critic of the sale, suggested the meeting was called as a result of a telegram he had his lawyer send to the American League counsel, Ben Fiery.

Joe Cronin, American League president who had once declined to call such a meeting, said it was his own idea.

"I feel it is in the best interest of the league and of all its members that such a meeting be held," he said Thursday.

The meeting is set for Sept. 9 in Boston. At issue is (1) the sale of 80 per cent of the Yankees — for four decades the dominant team in baseball — to CBS for $11.2 million, with option to buy the rest in five years, the sale to become final in November, and (2) the constitutionality of the conditions surrounding the sale, which have been questioned by Allyn and Kansas City owner Charles O. Finley, the only dissenting owners in the American League.

The sale was approved by eight of the 10 league members in a telegraphic poll conducted by Cronin. Finley and Allyn have contended that a meeting should have been called to discuss the sale.

Allyn, Finley and scores of columnists, newspapers and national magazines have decried the sale as putting CBS — as a television network and baseball owners — in the position of both a buyer and a seller. The sale also had drawn attention from the U.S. Congress as a possible violation of the anti-trust laws.

Giants Walloped by Braves, 13-0; Orioles, Sox Open Four-Game Set

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Fischer, who had failed to last two innings in each of his previous four starts, pitched a three-hitter as Milwaukee pummeled San Francisco 13-0 Thursday night.

The American League-leading Orioles were idle, but they open a vital four-game series tonight with the Chicago White Sox whose 5-2 loss to Minnesota Thursday put them one-half game behind the Orioles.

The teams played a four-game series last weekend, with Baltimore winning three times and moving from one-half game behind the White Sox to 1½ in front. The upcoming four games — two tonight and one each Saturday and Sunday — will be the last between the contenders. Baltimore holds an 8-6 edge.

Milwaukee gave Fischer a quick edge against the Giants, and the 24-year-old right-hander used it to great advantage.

In those previous four starts, Fischer didn't give the Braves a chance to build a lead for him.

He was battered for 18 runs in four innings in the appearances, running from Aug. 2 through Aug. 15.

The game was the only one in the National League. In other American League games, Detroit nipped Boston 5-4, and Los Angeles bombed Kansas City 7-1.

Fischer received strong support from Rico Carty and Woody Woodward, who each drove in four runs. Carty ignited a six-run first inning with a homer and later tripled in three runs. Woodward climaxed the first-inning outburst with a three-run double and knocked in another run with a single.

Hank Aaron drove in a pair of runs while Lee Maye ended the 16-hit barrage with a homer in the eighth.

Jimmie Hall scored the tie-breaking run in the Twins' ninth on a double steal and a throwing error by Chicago catcher J.C. Martin. Hall had singled and advanced to second on a walk to Bob Allison. When the runners tried a double steal, Martin threw the ball past third base, permitting Hall to come.

Minnesota added two more runs in the inning on Bernie Allen's single and Ed Fisher's wild pitch. The game had been tied 2-2 since the fifth when the White Sox rallied for two runs on Pete Ward's homer and Mike Hershberger's run-scoring single.

Detroit, trailing 4-2, rallied for three runs in the eighth inning against the Red Sox. Jerry Lumpe tripled in one, and Don Demeter knocked in the other two with a double off relief ace Dick Radatz. Fred Gladding halted a Boston threat in the eighth inning, retiring Dick Stuart on a grounder with the bases loaded.

Joe Adcock's 300th career homer was one of three for the Angels. The two-run blast off Kansas City loser Diego Segui highlighted a four-run second inning. Willie Smith and Lenny Green also connected for Los Angeles. Adcock added two singles and another RBI.

Fisher's 36 Best at CC; He Earns Berth in Finals

The men's golf committee at Coneyango Valley arranged a tournament solely for the long hitters yesterday, offering prizes for the best drive on No. 1.

Bob Blair, in the second flight, was the winner, while Palmer Davis hit the top drive in the first flight. "Rocky" O'Sheill slugged the longest ball in the third flight while Wendell Lawson and Dr. Dave Rice took honors in the fourth and fifth.

There was no award for the ball in the deepest water on No. 3.

Medal honors for the day went to Ross Fisher for his 36 and Tim Creal for his 38 in the first division. Three 41's won in the second, Tim Atwell, Bob Blair and Hal Conarro sharing that figure with Bob Alexander scoring a 42.

In the third flight C. T. Berdine and Ray Stein had 42's and Bill Walker a 44.

Fourth flight winner was Wendell Lawson with a 43 while Howard Lauffenberger and Joe Goblinger had 47's.

Tony Lucia's 47 was best in the final division and Dr. Rice had a 50.

In nine years as a head football coach, Paul Dietzel's teams show a 59-31 record. Three games have been ties. This is his third season at West Point. He had seven years at LSU.

The weekly kicker's tourney was shared by Bill Rice, Hal Conarro and Bob Alexander.

Henry A. "Ross" Fisher III shot his way into the finals of the country club championship yesterday by defeating John Carter 8 and 7 in a 36-hole match.

Fisher will meet the winner of the match between defending champion Jack Hamilton and George Loranger to be played over the weekend.

The finals are scheduled for Labor Day.

'Injuries Kill Us,' Says Brown

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The easiest way to slice the lead of the pennant front-runner is to beat him. With each victory, you gain a full game.

And when you're 13½ games behind as the Pittsburgh Pirates are—one game means a lot.

Tonight the Pirates get that chance. They host the Philadelphia Phillies and at least one person believes the Bucs can snap out of a tailspin in which they have lost 12 of 16 and plummeted from third to sixth place in the National League.

"We went from third to sixth in two weeks," Pirate General Manager Joe L. Brown said Thursday. "I think you can reverse that in this league just as easily."

Brown believes the Pirates can still finish in the first division, even as high as third.

He attributes Pittsburgh's backslide to injuries which "crippled our club rather severely," and the failure of the club to hit.

On the disastrous road trip the Pirates team average was .232. Jerry Lynch, with one hit in 29-at-bats, and Bill Mazeroski, 0-for-19, are both in slumps.

The Bucs open the 12-game home stand tonight with Joe Gibbon (9-6) facing the Phillies Jim Bunning (14-4).

Gridders Strike, Want Married Player on Team

ARMAGH, Pa. (AP)—Should a high school pupil be barred from sports just because he is married?

No, says the 40-member United High School football team—and they went on strike Thursday to back their opinion. One of the team's best linemen is married.

The trouble started when the school board indicated it may bar married pupils from sports. Forrest Hill, supervising principal of the Indiana County school, said the board is considering establishing a policy that would reflect whether or not married pupils "should be exploited in extra-curricular activities."

The team didn't show up for afternoon practice Thursday and players vowed they would not practice or play without the married teammate. The married player was not identified.

The players said they walked out with the full support of parents and adult fans.

The school board is scheduled to tackle the problem Sept. 10.

Betts Takes Lead Over M'facturing

By DAVE PIRILLO

If last night's City Softball game was an indication of what is to come in this championship between Betts and Warren Manufacturing, then the five-game series is still up for grabs.

Before one of the biggest and most enthusiastic crowds of the season the Black Knights edged Jim Tinelli and Manufacturing in eight innings with a 4-2 score.

Jim Fehlman was the main asset in the Knights' attack in collecting two hits for the night, one of which was a two-run homer in the top of the eighth inning in what proved to be the deciding factor in the extra-inning encounter.

John Berdine shined on the mound for Betts in tossing a perfect game for three and two-thirds innings before giving up a single to Tom Letrent. Berdine wound up the game in the eighth with a four-hitter.

Tinelli looked sharp on the mound for the Tarantulas, but physical and mental errors wrote the game the other way for the hard-luck pitcher. Tinelli also had a four-hitter for seven innings, but saw the game go out of reach in the top of the eighth.

The Black Knights had one of their best nights of the year in the field with no errors in twenty attempts. Harold Kane sparked on the defensive side of the game with two fine grabs that could have spelled trouble. On the other hand the Manufacturers looked somewhat below par for the night with three errors in the infield and one in the outfield for the night, which actually accounted for the game.

The Knights jumped to an early lead in the first inning with a bleeding single by Syd Cummings, a stolen sack by the runner and a single by Fehlman to drive in the go-ahead run.

Both pitchers locked up in a real duel for five innings in not allowing a runner past second base and only giving up two hits apiece.

The sixth inning looked drastic for the Tarantulas when Bob Schenk led off by reaching second base via Howard McFadden throwing error. John Berdine found the hole for Betts and laced a single to right. On the play Bob Ishman tossed the ball over the dugout to let Schenk score with the second run for Betts.

The Manufacturers gave the Black Knights a taste of Yankee ball playing in the bottom of the seventh when Denny Gidders smashed a 250 foot drive over the right field wall to put the game within one run of Betts. Bob Ishman got in the act by towering another solo blast over the center field fence.

Betts bounced back with a base on balls to Syd Cummings and Fehlman's tie breaking blast over the center field fence. The Tarantulas went down with very little trouble in the bottom of the eighth.

The series will resume on Monday night at 7:30 sharp. Tonight the league presents its annual All Star game for the benefit of the Lighting fund.

Warren Girl Awarded Medal By Rifle Assn.

One of the stars of the Warren Area High School rifle team last year has been awarded the Distinguished Expert Medal by the National Rifle Association, the organization announced today.

Sally Joanne Thoma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger W. Thoma of 621 Jackson Ave., joins the country's select group of high ranking marksmen. It is the highest rifle qualification award in the nation.

She had to shoot hundreds of targets over a period of several months and climb through 14 lower qualification NRA ratings. E. Ross Carlson is the new distinguished expert shooter's instructor.

The University of Arizona will play seven night football games this season. Five of them are at Tucson, Ariz.

RECORD ROUND BRINGS RECOGNITION—George Archer, Gilroy, Calif., who toured the Oakland Hills Country Club with a small gallery of followers, received instant recognition when he finished the first round with a course record 65, five under par, to take the early lead in the Carling World Open at Birmingham, Mich. Here Archer keeps a pencil handy in his mouth as youngsters gather around for autographs. The previous record on this long and rugged course was made by Ben Hogan in the 1951 National Open with a round of 67. (See Story.)—Associated Press Wirephoto

Pro Less Than 1 Year, Archer Leads Carling

By BERNIE KENNEDY

Associated Press Sports Writer
BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP)—Oakland Hills' tricky hump-backed greens and rookie nerves hold the answer today as the game's greatest golfers continue their bid in the second round of the $200,000 Carling World Championship Tournament.

The unfathomable greens took their toll of the greats but the nerves of the untried youngsters held firm as 24-year-old George Archer, a pro less than a year, grabbed the first round lead Thursday for the $35,000 prize with a record five-under-par 65.

Only four players broke Oakland Hills' par 70. Three of them were young pros and the other was Jackie Burke Jr., the baby-faced Texan.

Bruce Devlin, 26, a former Australian amateur star who has been a pro less than three years, was second at 68. Dick Sikes, 24, and Burke were next, tied at 69.

Others were 70 and over, including all the hotshot favorites.

Can the youngsters — Archer, Devlin and Sikes — hold up under the terrific pressure of such a rich tournament?

Can the big name players — Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Ken Venturi and Tony Lema — solve the intricacies of the greens which proved so frustrating on the opening day?

Palmer, who led the so-called Big Three with a 70, needed an 18-foot putt on the final hole to finish level with par, tied with nine others for fifth place.

Gary Player, bunched with almost two dozen players at 72, said "any man who could be sure of sinking a putt over two feet had to be a genius."

Redskins Obtain Pres Carpenter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Redskins obtained end Preston Carpenter from the Pittsburgh Steelers Friday for a 1964 draft choice.

Carpenter, a nine-year National Football League veteran from the University of Arkansas, will be used as a reserve behind Pat Richter at tight end.

To make room for Carpenter, the Redskins asked waivers on end Jim Collier.

For complete sports coverage read The Warren Times-Mirror.

At 8:12 a. m. tomorrow, the first golfers will be teeing off open play in the fourth West Side Open golf tournament with two men heavy favorites to battle down to the wire for the championship.

Joe Brindis, already a winner of the tournament twice, will probably find his toughest competition coming from young Jack Hamilton, defending champion at Conewango Valley Country Club.

Brindis has played in the tournament two of the three times it has been held, and won both times. He is the defending champion of the tourney, also played the last time on the Blueberry Hill Country Club layout in 1962. There was no tourney last year.

Beveragemen in Return Match With Altoona

The Warren Beverage baseball team will take to the road Saturday to face the Altoona Independents in a return match at Altoona. Game time is 3 p. m. on Veteran's Memorial Field. The Beveragemen will leave by bus from the City Lines depot at 9:30 a. m.

Making the trip with the Beveragemen will be Dallas Haight, Ed Rickerson, Don Mohny, Barney Gidders, Bob Kucher, Bob Winterburn, Bob Felton, Mike Grebeck, Jack Fulford, Ken Martin, Jim Cippala, Dave Hickok, Bill LaRosa, Jim Hannon, Earl Crocker and Jack Keys.

Altoona will have all the players ready to go they were supposed to have here for the first meeting of the year with the Beveragemen. Several players did not make it to Warren due to a car breaking down in Weedsville. Another player, star first baseman and 500 hitting Dave Getz, could not make it because of his having to work.

The Beverage lineup will be beefed up with the addition of Fulford and Hannon. They will also have the services of LaRosa who did not play in the first Altoona, also due to a problem of getting away from work. Crocker and Keys are two pitchers Warren has added to their roster for the trip.

Kiwanians Treat 22 Boys to Buc-Phils Game

Twenty-two boys will be the guests of the Warren Kiwanis Club at the Pittsburgh Pirates-Philadelphia Phillies game tomorrow at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh. The boys won the trip because they sold 20 or more tickets to the recently held Warren Hot Stove League All-Star games.

The boys should report to the Warren City Lines bus depot at 7 a. m. tomorrow. Although each boy will be given spending money at the game, it is suggested that each youngster bring a sandwich for the bus trip.

Those boys who were not contacted by phone should call Bob Dilks at 723-9260 before 5 p. m. today.

The following boys will be making the trip:

West Side Open Set for Tomorrow

Hamilton and Brindis have met once before in tournament play with Hamilton defeating Brindis by a close score. Although they are the big favorites, there will be about 20 other top flight golfers in the tournament, anyone of which could have a good day and pull an upset.

Whoever the winner is, he will probably shoot even par or better. The reason is that course regulations are being relaxed somewhat for the tournament in an apparent effort to hurry play along. Brindis holds the tournament record, 74, shot at Blueberry in 1962.

Under tournament conditions, the normal 6,319-yard Blueberry layout is lengthened to approximately 6,600 yards, moving all tees to the rear and placing all flags in the trickiest position. Under these conditions a 76-79 is normally good enough to win a tournament on the Hill. Blueberry par is 36-38-72. During the recent inter-club match between Blueberry and Conewango Valley Country Club, only two 79s were posted, one by Tony Bevevino of Blueberry and the other by CVCC's Bob Johnson.

For the Open this year, however, all markers will be kept in the center of the tees and all flags in the center of the greens. Another contributing factor to an even par or sub-par winning the tournament will be the easing of the out-of-bounds rules on No. 5 plus the excellent condition of the course.

Duplicate prize lists will be awarded for all four flights. Over $180 in prizes will be awarded in each flight.

Lunch will be served at the Inn between front and back nines. Dinner will be served at 6 p. m. at the Inn. Almost 100 golfers will be participating.

The following are the tee times for the tournament (the captain of the group is indicated by the small (c). It will be his duty to settle all arguments during play):

Redskins Defeated by Colts, 41-14

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Washington's Redskins are supposed to be a new look outfit. But they've won only one of four, which is not new. This is a bad thing.

Baltimore, on the other hand, has an old look. Like Johnny Unitas. He's looking like the old Johnny Unitas. This is a very good thing.

Unitas, guiding light in Baltimore's National Football League championship years in 1958 and 1959, had all the marks of the Unitas of that era Thursday night as he directed the Colts to a 41-14 exhibition rout of the Redskins.

Unitas, one of the most feared passers in the game, connected on two touchdown passes and engineered another drive against the Redskins, whose two previous losses had been by a single point.

A sellout crowd of 45,016 jammed into D.C. Stadium in Washington for the game and saw Unitas get the defensive help that was lacking last season in the game that opened a full, 11-game weekend exhibition schedule for the major pros.

Four more games are scheduled tonight — two each in the National and American Football Leagues — and six are on tap Saturday.

The top game tonight has the St. Louis Cardinals and defending champion Chicago Bears, each with a 2-1 record, playing in Chicago. Both have played Green Bay, the Cards winning 20-7 and the Bears losing 21-7. Detroit, unbeaten but once tied, is expected to use ex-Brown Milt Plum against Cleveland in the Lions' home game. The Browns, now 2-1 and again getting stand-out running from Jimmy Brown, will have quarterback Frank Ryan back in action. Ryan sat out last week's 42-7 victory over Pittsburgh with a sore shoulder.

In the American League, Boston's Patriots, defending Eastern Division champions, will try to snap a nine-game exhibition losing string at Buffalo, 1-2, while Denver, with new quarterback Jackie Lee, plays Kansas City at Fort Worth, Tex. in Friday night action.

Saturday's NFL schedule has New York vs. Philadelphia at Princeton, N.J., Green Bay at Dallas, Pittsburgh vs. San Francisco at Omaha, and Minnesota at Los Angeles. The AFL has New York vs. San Diego at Atlanta, Ga., and Houston vs. Oakland at Las Vegas, Nev.

REQUIEM FOR A BALL PARK — A clump of grass in the center covers what was for years home plate at New York's Polo Grounds as demolition of the famed ball park continues. Seats from field boxes await truckers to haul them away. Clubhouse in center background will be among the last parts of the horseshoe-structure to come down. The playing field has been the home of the Yankees, Giants and Mets as well as football teams. Soon it will be replaced by a modern housing development. —Associated Press Wirephoto

Sky Divers At Stateline Sat.

After a week of hoping the track would dry out after the drenching it took all last week, officials of Stateline Speedway have lined up the biggest show of the season for their next-to-the-last night of stock car racing for the year.

Besides the normal 10-race card including two 25-lap feature events, spectators will witness a parachute jump from 7,000 feet and an attempt to roll over a car right in front of the main grandstand. Three local men, all veteran sky divers, will jump from 7,000 feet at approximately 9 p.m., a half-hour after the night's card gets under way. Jumping will be Bill VanEpps of Sugar Grove, Dave Valone of Warren and a third sky diver yet to be named. The men plan to fall free for some 5,000 feet, approximately one mile through space, before opening their chutes. Their target will be the infield at Stateline. They will be traveling about 120 miles-per-hour while falling free. At the first intermission, Bill Southwell of Sugar Grove will attempt to roll over a car on the front stretch of the track. Southwell says he has never done it before — or even tried it before — but is confident he can accomplish the feat on his first attempt. Stateline officials emphasized the fact that there would be no advance in the standard admission price for the special shows. Besides all the special attractions, the battle for first place in the point standings in the late-model division continues with Youngsville's Ronnie Blackmer still holding the upper hand but not by much. Blackmer now has 1,369 points at Stateline, 61 more than Squirt Johns of Brockway in second place with 1,308. Busti's Bobby Schnars is in third place with a total of 1,264. Except for these three, the race for the top money in the point standings is all over. Johns has been making a late run for the money. He started the year slowly having a considerable amount of trouble with his racer, now four years old and the last year he can run it. However, starting at the mid-season point and up to the present time, he has won four feature races including two 50-lappers and the last two features in a row. He has come from seventh place in the point standings to second.

Blackmer for some time earlier in the season was considered almost untouchable in the race for the money. However, it has been several weeks now since he won a feature at Stateline although always finishing high enough to hold onto the point lead. A poor finish now or his failure to enter a feature due to mechanical troubles could cost him the leadership and a large pile of cash.

Schnars started off the season winning the first feature race. It has been his last feature victory to date although he, like Blackmer, has been consistently finishing high in almost every feature race. He may be a lot closer to Blackmer and ahead of Johns now had he not pulled out of a feature following a dispute with officials of the track.

In the sportsmen division, it's anybody's bet as usual. Freddy Clark of Kiantone, N. Y., had been cleaning house until last week when his racer froze up on him. Stroker McGurk of North Collins, N. Y., plagued with bad luck all season long, came back last week to win the race Clark couldn't finish. Blackmer is also a hot contender in the class.

The action starts at 8:30 p.m. sharp with the sky diving exhibition scheduled for approximately 9 p.m. The car roll-over will take place during one of the intermissions, probably the first.

Sink or Swim with Hornung

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST DE PERE, Wis. (AP) — Vince Lombardi has the whip out this year. Aroused by two defeats at the hands of the Chicago Bears, and loss of the NFL title, Lombardi is driving his Green Bay Packers as they never have been driven before.

"The first Bear game last year was the biggest disappointment of my career," said Lombardi at the training camp at St. Norbert College. "We couldn't have beaten them in the second game with blackjacks, but we should have won the first."

"We are looking forward to this year. I have been driving the boys hard. We will be in physical condition. But the big thing is pride in your work. . . . the intangibles, the abstracts. You never know about this until the games start."

Paul Hornung was the first to feel the sting of Lombardi's hard approach of 1964. The Golden Boy, reinstated after a one-year suspension for betting on games, was ordered to report in April. Running up and down the steps of the Packers' stadium pared off the pounds so that Hornung goes into the season at 212 pounds, six below his weight in 1962.

"We'll sink or swim with Hornung," said Lombardi, coach-general manager of the Packers. "Paul violence must be checked," he said.

Humphrey gave the crowd a lot more to yell about.

The ebullient Minnesota senator, in his acceptance speech, flailed away at Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater. His tack indicated that the Democrats will have a punch-slinging equivalent of Rep. William E. Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee, in the campaign.

Humphrey extolled Johnson as "the president of all the people" and invited "responsible and progressive Republicans" to enlist under the Democratic banner.

Earlier in the day, addressing a rally of 15,000 Young Democrats, he cautioned them not to boo the mention of Goldwater's name. His theme: "Be kind to Republicans. They might join us."

As the convention howled approval, Humphrey let Goldwater have it with both barrels as a man "facing backward" — against the mainstream of history.

"The American presidency," he said, "is not the place for a man who is impetuous in one moment and indecisive in the next; who is violently for something one day, and violently opposed on the next; whose statements on matters of major policy are so confusing and contradictory that neither friend nor foe knows where he stands."

The convention had its moment of emotion Thursday night when Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who had been sitting somberly on a step awaiting his turn, climbed to the podium and stood in full view of the delegates. The filmed 1,000 days of his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy, was about to be shown.

As handclapping applause began, the organ boomed into sound. Within 30 seconds, it was silent. But the applause went on, welling up from the floor, where state banners were dancing in cadence, to the crowded balconies.

For 13 minutes there was a sustained outburst of sentiment as the slight young man stood motionless, his arms at his sides, the silent symbol of a president who had been murdered and of all of the elan of an administration which had died with him.

When the President had concluded his speech, Johnson held an impromptu news conference with reporters stationed on the platform. His message: The Democrats have a civil rights backlash problem, but the frontlash against the Republican ticket by liberals and independents is three times as strong.

He said the national and state polls show the number of nominal Democrats who will vote Republican in November ranges from "negligible in some states on up to 10 to 15 per cent of the Democrats in some states."

act for himself, with himself as the comedian and I as the straight man. But the funny thing — my straight lines got the laughs. People laughed twice as hard at my not being funny as they laughed at George's being funny. When we came off after the first show, he said, 'We're switching parts, Gracie.' He rewrote the act then and there."

Burns and Allen played vaudeville for three years before he was able to convince her they should get married. They were wed in Cleveland on Jan. 7, 1926.

After their marriage they were propelled into the big time.

They became headliners in vaudeville and starred on the bill that ended Vaudeville at New York's Palace Theater. After guest-starring on Rudy Vallee and Guy Lombardo radio programs, they began their own show on Feb. 15, 1932.

Their career continued in radio and television until Gracie's retirement.

George once analyzed his wife's humor: "Gracie is not really crazy. If she were, we couldn't get a day's work. 'Gracie has a sort of illogical logic. To her, everything else is a little nuts, and after listening to her, you think maybe she's right.'"

The Burns lived in the same Beverly Hills home for 25 years and were a part of the social life, usually in tandem with their close friends, Jack and Mary Benny. The Burns had two adopted children, Sandra, born in 1934, and Ronald, in 1935.

nedly with winds that peaked at 65 m.p.h.

That was 10 miles below hurricane strength, not enough to cause serious damage to the sprawling facility, which was prepared to weather winds more than twice that velocity.

Six giant space rockets rode out the storm lashed securely to their launching pads and crews resumed the work of readying them for firing.

The Weather Bureau at Miami said Cleo was expected to move offshore this morning and intensify. Hurricane warnings remained up at Brunswick, Ga., and gale warnings extended to Hatteras.

The storm was moving at about 10 m.p.h.

Cleo took no lives in Florida, but the death toll still was climbing in the southwestern tip of Haiti, far behind in the Caribbean.

In the Haitian port city of Les Cayes, Cleo killed 80 persons, destroyed or damaged nearly every building and left the population of 20,000 bewildered and with little food.

Authorities reported Thursday that 44 other persons were known to have died in the surrounding countryside, bringing to 124 the official death toll from Monday's howling winds.

Earlier, Cleo killed 14 on the French island of Guadeloupe.

There was no definite estimate of the damage to the Miami metropolitan area, which bore the brunt of Cleo's fury Thursday.

State damage survey teams were to arrive today, and officials said the federal government would be asked to declare the city a disaster area.

As it moved up the coast, Cleo smashed town after town and dealt a blow to a part of Florida's citrus belt that could send grapefruit prices rocketing upwards.

Democrats Optimistic About November

By LARRY OSIUS

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Democratic leaders are leaving this convention city expressing optimism — and some caution — about the party's chances in the November election.

Some admit to worry over the possibility of a white "backlash" against Negro demonstrations and the Civil Rights Act.

That is particularly true among leaders from Southern states. Several from that area could see the Johnson-Humphrey ticket's prospects as no better than even, if that much.

And some of the Southerners expect local and state candidates to run separately from the national ticket.

Of the leaders of 37 states contacted by The Associated Press during the convention, 18 placed their states solidly in the Johnson-Humphrey corner in November. They are Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Oklahoma, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, West Virginia, Wisconsin.

Democratic leaders in 17 other states — including some usually Republican ones — figure they have a good chance to win, or at least their best in several years.

These are Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Montana, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wyoming.

The states in which the Democratic chances were rated at no better than even — or were not rated — are Nebraska, South Carolina, Louisiana, Mississippi and Virginia.

Asked what might cause them the most trouble in the election, leaders from 12 states, including some in the North, specified civil rights and a white backlash. Some said they believe this will be less important as an issue by election day.

The normally conservative or Republican voting records of New Hampshire, Vermont, Kansas, Oklahoma and Wyoming are the biggest obstacles seen by party leaders in those states.

Even Arizona Democrats are talking victory. Sam Goddard, former state chairman, now running for governor, said a poll ordered by the Democrats showed Johnson leading 6 to 4 in the home state of Barry Goldwater, GOP presidential nominee.

But the optimism is tempered with caution. Frank Keller, Washington state chairman, says it is "a hard fight and getting harder every day."

Gov. Donald Russell of South Carolina says, "the situation will be close" with Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican nominee, now benefitting from anti-civil rights feeling.

Senecas See Progress In Planning Housing

SALAMANCA, N. Y. — Seneca Indian groups reported progress yesterday in planning of new community buildings on both the Allegany and Cattaraugus reservations and in preparation of recommendations for administering a new educational fund made available through a settlement of Indian claims approved by both the House and Senate.

SIGNING of the compensation and rehabilitation bill by the President is expected soon and President George D. Heron said the Seneca Nation has assurances that funds will be provided in a supplemental appropriation bill scheduled for adoption before Congress adjourns.

In a conference with Edwin Bruce of the architectural and engineering firm of Sargeant, Webster, Crenshaw & Folley of Syracuse, members of the community buildings committee have learned that it will take about three months to complete architectural plans for the community buildings.

THE COMMITTEE has scheduled another meeting on Sept. 14. Members hope that it will be possible to advertise for bids on construction of the buildings by January, enabling awarding of bids in February and a start on construction by March.

A total of $970,000 is made available for community buildings in the bill approved by Congress. It is planned to construct one community building on the Jimersontown relocation site on the Allegany reservation, west of Salamanca, and another on the Cattaraugus reservation.

According to preliminary planning, each will include office space. The various activities of the Nation will require several offices, including one for the Seneca Nation Housing Authority.

Both community buildings are expected to have a dining and auditorium combination, arts and crafts room and recreational facilities. It is expected that the community building in the Jimersontown area will include a council chamber as well as Seneca Nation business office headquarters.

THE EDUCATIONAL scholarship committee, headed by Mrs. Maribel Printup, met Wednesday night and decided to recommend that the Seneca Council, at its Sept. 5 meeting, establish the Seneca Nation Educational Scholarship Trust and Foundation.

Present thinking was reported to favor establishment of a trusteeship composed of nine members to administer educational funds made possible through the rehabilitation portion of the Congressional bill. It was suggested that such a trusteeship include five Senecas and four non-Senecas, the latter possibly including area school superintendents or their representatives, and perhaps state and federal representatives.

APPOINTMENTS of John Bishop, a Seneca Indian of the Steamburg area, as cost accountant and payroll clerk for the Seneca Nation home building project has also been announced.

Eleven homes have been started in the Jimersontown and Steamburg relocation areas for families who must move because of the Kinzua dam project, and it is expected that the total number to be built will exceed 102.

Your Horoscope for Tomorrow

By Frances Drake

FOR SATURDAY, AUG 29

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries) — Out with doubting! If you run into a difficulty, call on that fine Arian intelligence of yours and set in motion safe, sound procedures which will keep matters from getting out of hand.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus) — There will be more to this day than apparent at first. Look deep into its potentials and take advantage of them with your native finesse. You may receive an unexpected gift.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini) — Try not to get a late start, since influences early in the day will be exceptionally beneficial. If you do, however, don't try to make up for it by rushing.

errors. Be careful whose advice you follow.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer) — Generous lunar influences. Especially favored: romance, domestic interests, children's affairs, writings and dealings with the public.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo) — You could offset best endeavors now if you waste time in gossip or scatter your energies. Concentrate on your most laudable goals and aim directly toward them.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo) — The position of Mercury in your chart now indicates live-wire ambition and stimulated intuition. Unexpected successes are due this P. M.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Your ingenuity heightened now. Get in on anything worthwhile which will stimulate ambition, buoy up spirits, prove refreshing in the doing. Get OUT of desirable involvements and, above all, don't overtax yourself.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio) — Thoroughness is rarely lacking in you; neither cult tasks. But there always comes a time for re-evaluation. Are you inclined to shun difficulty? Think now: Are you taking on too much? Are you assuming NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius) — Bring your latent talents to the fore and start developing them. There is room and need for everything useful. Do avoid extremism, however.

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 23 (Capricorn) — Some persons about you may be irritable — because they have more to do than they bargained for. Be tolerant but, even more important, lend a hand if you can. Things should be going well for you now, so act as a "tranquilizer" for others.

JANUARY 24 to FEBRUARY 23 (Aquarius) — Be discreet in personal matters now. Do not divulge anything which you may regret later. Plan on re-organizing your activities next week in order to advance your interests.

FEBRUARY 24 to MARCH 23 (Pisces) — You are not usually a "quitter" nor do you ever leave others in a lurch, but a present tendency toward lethargy may incline you to fail these innate good traits. Give yourself a pep talk and get on your usual "beam."

YOU BORN TODAY are realistic, steadfast, intuitive and extremely meticulous. However, you sometimes squander energies in fuming over the inaccuracies of others. You are a good talker, like to associate with interesting people. Highly critical of others, you should learn to take criticism yourself. Most times you talk at this. Unpleasant surroundings disturb you and hamper your work, but you thrive in a harmonious atmosphere, filled with busy, intelligent and enthusiastic associates. You have an excellent memory: keep developing it. Birthdate of: Oliver Wendell Holmes, writer, physician; John Locke, writer, philosopher.
